The Shortline bus company was authorized to provide transportation and act as agent for the trip. Arrangements for the Senior to stay at Silver Springs, Maryland have been completed and approved.

As noted in the Townsman the Board of Education has authorized a public referendum on the matter of purchasing 3.9 acres of land from the City of New York. This parcel f land would fill the present property line in keeping with the purchase made in 1967. In order to convey the property, the City of New York required a resolution from the Board of Estimate and a total price of $1,000 for 3.9 acres was established. Funds for the purchase of this land have already been set aside by the public and no additional cost would be involved for the district.

A Round About Tri-Valley

Again we extend our condolences to several families in our community: George M. Knox of Neversink passed away on March 4th at the age of 78. George was a former Tri-Valley School Board Member and a charter member of the Tri-Valley Lions. Charles "Chuck" Bollin of Grahamsville died on March 6th at the age of 71, and Barbara Dean's mother, Irene Mary Sosnowski, of Woodbourne passed away at the age of 96 on March 8th. Congratulations to Anthony and Amanda DeMondo of Neversink on the birth of a daughter, Avery, on March 1st.

Congratulation to three Tri-Valley seniors who took part in a signing ceremony and will continue their academic and football careers in college. Brendan Pavese and Jacob Allison will be attending Mansfield University in Mansfield, Pennsylvania and Julius Colon will be attending and playing football at the University of Rochester in Rochester, New York. Although spring is just around the corner, Sunday, the 10th, proved that old man winter was not about to relinquish his hold just yet. Some church services were cancelled due to the fact that the pastors, who lived quite a distance away, thought it best to stay off of the slippery snow-covered roads. 1 am a faithful church attendee, however, the unexpected snowfall with its cancellations that interrupt routines and appointments sometimes feels welcome. Spring will be here before you know it. Flocks of robins and red-wings have made their appearance on Glade Hill. I also see that large flocks of turkeys have managed to survive the winter and yes, there are plenty of deer who continue to graze in the pasture fields. I germinated my heirloom tomato seeds and have already planted them in individual pots. Today I noticed some little green sprouts poking their heads out of the soil.

If you missed the Tri-Valley Band and Chorus concert held at the school on March 12th, you missed a wonderful performance by the 5/6 band and chorus, the 7/8 band and chorus and the 9/12 band and chorus! The auditorium (as well as the parking lot) was filled with parents and guests showing support for our talented students. The finale, performed by Kevin Giroux's 9/12 chorus and members of the Sullivan County Community Chorus was extremely moving and received a standing ovation. The next school concerts are scheduled for May 21st (5/12 chorus) and May 23rd (5/12 band) in the Bernstein Theatre. AND. . . don't forget that the Tri-Valley production of "Mary Poppins" will be presented on April 5th and 6th! Our local Cub Scout Pack 87 held their annual Blue and Gold dinner on Saturday, March 16th at the Neversink Firehouse.

Several Cub Scouts received badges and Gregson McKenna received his Arrow of Light Award.

Reminder: Pancake breakfast: Sunday, March 31st from 7:00 am - Noon at the Neversink Firehouse.

The AARP magazine stresses exercise, not only for weight loss, but for total body health. The Grahamsville Fairgrounds is a nice place to walk... and you never know who you are going to bump into. Enjoy the fresh air and the coming of spring!

Local Family Awaits return of Young NYC Girl They Host Every Summer

A Sullivan County family hosts a young NYC girl for summer vacations through the non-profit Fresh Air Fund. This program - which has been around since 1877, can introduce city kids to a beautiful part of NY state and broaden their world to experience and see things they would otherwise not be exposed to.

For Vikki and Tony Siciliano of Grahamsville, the decision to host a NYC child for a summer vacation more than seven years ago required no debate or discussion. They had known of the Fresh Air Fund for years, and hoped to participate at some point. When their youngest daughter Lily was the only one of their children still at home, they knew the time was right. That's when they first met Kialie, a Brooklynite who traveled by bus with other Fresh Air Fund city kids to host families along the East Coast. Kialie has become part of their family and they call her their "city daughter". This year's visit includes plans for her to spend time at a nearby camp to help foster her love of horses which grew from her Sullivan County summers.

Families can choose to host a boy or girl ranging in age from 7-13 for the first visit, and then re-invite the same child into the future or host new children. First visits usually last a week (at set times in either July or August) and Fresh Air Fund transports the kids to the area to meet their host families. There's no cost to the families other than any activities they choose to do with their visiting child. Here is a link to the Fresh Air Fund media resources: http://www.freshair.org/media-room.

Fresh Air Fund is a boost for the kids and a win for the community since host families want to show off this beautiful area to the kids - the farms; swimming in lakes, the Delaware and at community pools; horseback riding; camping; bowling; and more. Needless to say, the host families get as much (or more) than the kids from the chance to open their hearts and homes to a child, and show off all we have to offer up here.

Hosts range from traditional families with two parents and kids at home to single adults with or without kids, and adults can be any age

Each summer, about 4,000 children leave their city apartments and head to rural, suburban, and small town communities

Host families just need a place for the visiting kiddo to sleep -- separate bedroom not necessary, could even be a mat on floor or a sleeping bag

First time visitors are aged 7 to 12 and families can request the age or gender, kids can return to the same family or visit another up to age 18

First time visitors spend 1 week with the host family; this year's Sullivan County dates are July 12-19 or August 14-21

A Fresh Air Fund bus brings city kids to the area and returns them to NYC (individual arrangements may be possible)

Fresh Air Fund and local volunteers provide for 24/7 support (for medical needs, homesickness, etc.)

Fresh Air Fund provides liability coverage for approved activities and medical insurance for uninsured kids

Nature Column - Linda Comando

A tribute to the memory of all of the Townsman Ladies that we have lost and loved so much... Peggy DeWire, Avril Pappa, Joan Hall, Polly Hill, Joyce Lockhart, Jean Helthaler, Karen Curry and Barbara Slater.

Since moving to Sundown,18 years ago, it has become a tradition that on St. Patrick's Day we pick a small bouquet of Snow Drops from the patch of bulbs that were first planted here by my father about 40 years ago.

Plant taxonomy classifies common snowdrops as Galanthus nivalis. The genus name refers to the white color of the flowers (gala is Greek for "milk," while anthos is Greek for "flower"), and nivalis is Latin for "snow-like." They are classified as spring bulb plants and belong to the amaryllis family.

Common snowdrops are tiny plants only about 3 to 6 inches tall. They produce one small (1 inch or less), white flower, which hangs down off its stalk like a "drop" prior to opening. When the bloom opens, three outer petals arch out over three inner petals and a single small white drooping bell shaped flower with six petal-like tepals in two circling whorls appears. The smaller inner petals have green markings.

The leaves are shaped like narrow blades, growing about 4 inches long. The leaves are basal, emerging from the bulb initially enclosed in a tubular membranous sheath of cataphylls (reduced smaller leaf). The scape (flowering stalk) is erect, leafless, and compressed

Snowdrops are hardy herbaceous plants that remain alive, although inactive for a period of time, by underground bulbs. They are among the earliest spring bulbs to bloom. In colder climates, they will emerge through snow. They naturalise relatively easily forming large drifts that are often found near human habitation, and also former monastic sites.

The leaves die back a few weeks after the flowers have faded.

Galanthus plants are relatively vigorous and may spread rapidly by forming bulb offsets. They also spread by dispersal of seed, animals disturbing bulbs, and water if disturbed by floods.

Some snowdrop species are threatened in their wild habitats, due to habitat destruction, illegal collecting and climate change. In most countries collecting bulbs from the wild is now illegal.

This low-growing plant tolerates partial shade to full sun, a variety of soil types, and requires almost no maintenance. It is toxic to animals and humans, which offers the benefit of being virtually immune to feeding by deer and other wildlife.

The snowdrop flower has several meanings depending on the context. The most common meanings are:Purity; Hope and Rebirth. This little flower has enjoyed a rich and varied history that includes several legends about how the flower came to be. There is a German legend that tells when God created snow, he gave it the task of visiting the flowers of the earth to gather colors. All the flowers refused, until the snow visited the gentle snowdrop. Seeing that the snowdrop was a kind and generous soul, the snow decided to make a deal. In exchange for her color, the snow agreed to allow the snowdrop to bloom first every spring. The delicate snowdrop agreed and cheerfully blooms amid the snow each spring. And according to a Moldovan legend, a fight between the Winter Witch and Lady Spring gave birth to the snow-drop. One year, the Winter Witch decided that she would not give up her reign of the earth when Lady Spring arrived. During the ensuing battle, Lady Spring pricked her finger and a drop of her blood fell to the earth. The blood drop melted the snow and up sprung a tiny snowdrop, a sign that Lady Spring had won the battle with the Winter Witch.

The practice of having symbolic meanings for flowers began many years ago and it continues to entertain us even today. It is a fact that the snowdrop has the ability to melt the snow around it as it produces its own heat. The hope for new warmth becomes apparent during its blossoming time. As the Snowdrop emerges from its winter sleep, it pushed its way right up through the snow. And these little white blossoms are certainly a delightful sight for any winterweary eye.

Household Hints

Put a little Spring in your Wicker Furniture

Wicker furniture can yellow with age and exposure to the sun and elements. To keep your wicker natural-looking, scrub it with a stiff brush dipped in warm salt water. Let the piece dry in the sun. Repeat this process every year or every other year.

Restoration Heights

Mysterious Book Report No. 367

by John Dwaine McKenna

Gentrification is a recently coined term that describes the displacement of blue collar, working-class residents from their long established city neighborhoods by newer and wealthier persons who've moved in and bought houses where the people with less money used to live. It's a contributing cause of homelessness, and it's happening in every major city in America. One of the most notable examples is found in New York City, where whole neighborhoods are being gobbled up and their character destroyed by huge influxes of hip, upwardly mobile and prosperous move-ins. The social friction and unrest caused by that kind of displacement is the subject of a compelling and thoughtfully written debut novel that combines social commentary with dramatic crime fiction.

Restoration Heights, (Hanover Square Press, $26.99, 330 pages, ISBN 978-1-335-21872-8) by Wil Medearis, takes place in the Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn. It's where we meet Reddick, a white guy living in the traditionally black neighborhood that's deep in the throes of gentrification. Reddick's a struggling artist, drawn to the area eight years earler by the cheap rent and large studio spaces. He makes his expense and rent money working as an art handler, where he installs, takes down, crates up and stores, priceless works of art for some of the city's richest families. As such, he rubs elbows with both the ultrarich, as well as the ultra-average black citizens with whom he plays basketball at the local YMCA every spare moment. By accident, Reddick is the last person to see Hannah, the fiancé of Buckley Seward, heir to the largest fortune of the entire art-collecting community in New York. When the Seward family refuses to call in the police, Reddick takes it upon himself to solve the young woman's disappearance and possible murder. This simple act of compassion and caring about a seemingly disposable person puts Reddick deep into the cross-currents and riptides of high society where wealth and power and influence trump all; where face and social standing are more important than the lives of common folk. It's where the brine is deep and money-fueled megalodons prey upon the unprepared and the unwary. Restoration Heights is a startling, complex and auspicious first novel from a young wordsmith who's bound to become a force in the literary world!

Fallsburg Life Skills Class Earns Grant for Garden Project

(From Pg. 1) The students will create several raised bed vegetable gardens on the Fallsburg CSD grounds. Additionally, students will grow ornamentals along the edge of the garden to enhance the visual appeal. Students will create pallet artwork as background and trellises for climbing plants.

The food grown in the garden will be used in Wellness

The food grown in the garden will be used in Wellness events and in recipes that will be sold in the cafe that the students currently run as part of the class curriculum; the Stone Soup Cafe. The vegetables will particularly be used in Stone Soup, a delicious vegetable soup that is the cornerstone recipe of the cafe. Our Stone Soup recipe and Cafe is inspired by the classic folk tale that teaches people that sharing what you have creates community and that strangers can become friends over a shared meal.

Research and experience have shown that a garden is a gateway to get students involved in developing lifelong healthy eating habits. This garden project is designed to help the students become more self-sufficient in obtaining and providing healthy food for themselves and for their families. An additional goal is to further integrate the students into the school community by generating interest and sharing the bounty of the gardens for Wellness and other events.

RSVP Fills a Need, but Not Without Help

Monticello, NY - As the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) enters its 46th year of service to Sullivan County's citizens, it continues to grapple with an ongoing need for drivers and funding.

Drivers Wanted

With more requests than the current crop of volunteers can fulfill, RSVP Project Director Caryn Mathews is urgently seeking additional drivers to take local senior citizens to crucial medical appointments.

"This is an invaluable service to our community but one in which we constantly struggle to maintain a level of volunteer drivers adequate to meet the demand," she said

"Though they live independently, many of our seniors have no means of transportation to take them to needed medical appointments," explained Lise-Anne Deoul, director of the Sullivan County Office for the Aging, of which RSVP is a part. "We're asking our 55-and-older residents who possess a valid driver's license to donate even just one-half-day a month of their time to help someone's mom, dad, aunt, uncle, grandfather or grandmother continue to have a fulfilling and healthy quality of life."

"All our RSVP volunteers need do is drive these folks to and from their medical appointments. These seniors are mobile (some have an aide to accompany them), and so a driver only has to get them safely to their destination, wait a short time, then bring them home," noted District 2 Legislator Nadia Rajsz, chair of the Legislature's Health & Family Services Committee, which oversees RSVP. "We provide the personal liability insurance coverage and reimburse for mileage, while the passengers themselves often provide good company and fascinating conversation!"

"Typical medical trips are to Monticello and Liberty, or to Middletown or Port Jervis," Mathews added. "So these are not long drives, and they're made all the shorter by the friendships forged on the road."

Donations as Welcome as Volunteers

"The $53,861 we just received from the Federal government is always beneficial, but that is the amount we normally get and for which we budget," explained Mathews. "If it weren't for the compassion of the Sullivan County Legislature - which generously provides a match to those funds - RSVP might not exist at all."

Beyond the driving of residents to medical appointments, RSVP currently utilizes volunteers serving in 60+ locations across the County, including nutrition sites, thrift shops and food pantries.

RSVP engages individuals age 55 and older in community service that addresses the most pressing challenges in our community, ensuring seniors age independently and with dignity. With volunteer assistance, more than 50,000 meals are served to the community annually, and volunteers also teach literacy skills, visit and call homebound seniors, and provide hospice services. Driver safety classes are taught by volunteers. They also do free tax preparation, run the annual countywide Senior Games, and operate exercise and art classes.

There are currently 286 active volunteers who served over 40,000 hours in 2018 - the value of their hours of service to Sullivan County is well over $900,000.

Nevertheless, there are still costs involved, and as such, RSVP accepts donations of any amount, to be used exclusively in RSVP initiatives.

"We're also looking for advertisers, i.e. local sponsors and supporters of RSVP and its volunteers, for our 46th Annual Recognition Luncheon's Keepsake Journal," Mathews noted. "It's how we say thank you to our volunteers for all they do for our community, and it will be held this year on June 5 at the Club at Villa Roma in Callicoon. We keep everything in Sullivan County."

Can you help with time or money? Do you know someone who can? Then please pass the word: Mathews eagerly welcomes inquiries at 845-807-0251. Donations can be made out to RSVP, 100 North Street, Monticello, NY 12701.

Creating your own art is a form of meditation and a therapy unique to your own self. In the Spirit of Sumi-e, written and

The Olive Jar- By Carol LaMonda

Pay it Forward

I can remember when we went to parties, movies, concerts, picnics, dances, sporting events, banquets, and plays. We did more socializing back when we struggled with a non-existent entertainment budget. Now that we can afford the admissions, we play JEOPARDY and WHEEL OF FORTUNE in our pajamas. I must admit we do go out to dinner much more often now that we are two and not a family of four. The joke in our family is that when Bruce asks what I am making for dinner, my reply is "reservations." Truthfully, we do go to the Boiceville Inn and Sante Fe often enough to be considered regulars with waitresses who know who prefers salt or no salt on the Margaritas.

Now my social life seems to be less social and more maintenance. My social calendar for the past week reads more like this: jury duty, mammogram, annual physical, oil change for the car, new license at DMV, oil delivery for the house, schedule hearing exam with audiologist, blood-work at the lab, gas up the car, heart-worm medicine for Hudson, deliver Meals on Wheels, get a haircut, renew Sam's Club membership, organize tax receipts for accountant, recycling at the landfill and so forth. How in the world did we get all this done while we were working and raising kids?

The litany of appointments and responsibilities doesn't even include the daily routine of cooking, cleaning, grooming, shopping, preparing meals and other repetitive activities that do not need to be written in the little boxes of my planning calendar.

There is something to be said about the ordinary day to day maintenance of life. The stage manager in OUR TOWN by Thornton Wilder warns Emily, who is allowed to return to her life for just one day, to pick "an ordinary day." "It will be enough," he tells her.

The moment to moment schedule of living peppered with responsibility and maintenance is comfortable and enough. The simplest of actions can add sparkle to the dull and mundane. Just yesterday as I showed up for my haircut appointment, a man, with a winter-straggly beard asked if he could get a trim. I deferred saying, "Take him first. I don't mind waiting." When I went to pay for my cut, I was told, "Don't leave me a tip. "Chainsaw" left a tip for you. And so I left a tip for the next woman. Each day may be ordinary, but paying it forward, a small kindness, makes the day extraordinary

Quick Thinking at BCES Saves Life of Student

(From Pg. 1.) Kaddyjatou ran to get Ms. Carter-Harris for help, and the Aide performed the Heimlich maneuver to clear the child's throat and restore normal breathing. Coach Carter-Harris said she was praying when she was working with the child. "I asked God to give me the strength to help her, and everything I was trained to do came into play."

At the ceremony Dr. Katz acknowledged Lucille Carter-Harris as a quiet person with a giant heart and a giant love for our children. He praised Kaddyjatou for quick thinking and getting a responsible adult right away to avert tragedy. As Dr. Katz said, "I could not be prouder as Ms. Harris and Kaddyjatou made a difference in a child's life that day." Everyone from the Board and the staff and community members in the audience applauded the deserving STAR Awards.

Career & Tech Center of Sullivan County Held Career Expo for Local Districts

Liberty: Four hundred plus 5th & 8th-grade students from Sullivan County school districts attended the Career & Tech Expo at Sullivan BOCES from January 25th through January 27th. The expo was a perfect opportunity for students to see first-hand what programs the Career & Tech Center offers when they enter 11th grade.

Each of the Career & Tech programs allowed the students to take part in hands-on exercises tied to that program. The activities included everything from handling animals from the Animal Science Program to using a virtual welder from the welding program.

"This is such a great event for our students to learn about different career options and how they can learn the skills to start their potential career," said Michelle Sager, School Counselor from the Fallsburg Central School. "This is the first time I have the opportunity to see the different Career & Tech programs in action."

For more information on the Cosmetology Program or the other programs available through the Career and Technical Education Center visit us at scboces.org or call 295-4152. For program updates, like Sullivan County BOCES on Facebook and follow us on Twitter.

Looking for a Way Out - Madison County

On March 3, ECO Harry Chase responded to a call from the Colgate University Campus Safety regarding a deer trapped in a courtyard. The wayward deer had jumped a railing and ended up 20 feet below ground in a small courtyard. ECO Chase and Campus Safety personnel decided the safest course of action was to open the doors to the courtyard and carefully herd the deer into the adjoining academic building, down a hallway, and out the exit doors at ground level. After blocking the hallways leading into the building, they successfully pushed the deer out a door. The deer slipped and skated along the hallway's slick floors but exited the building and ran off in good health to the delight of about 75 students gathered to watch

Gregson McKenna Receives Arrow of Light Award

Saturday night was the Blue & Gold Dinner for our local Cub Scout Pack 87. Gregson McKenna earned his Arrow of Light Award. He worked diligently all year long. His mother Cynthia McKenna was his leader.

Other members of the Pack also received badges.

Congratulations to all!

Kamsiyonna Dim is February's Cross County Reading Challenge Winner

Students across Sullivan County are virtually reading their way through the county, thanks to an initiative from the School Library System at Sullivan BOCES. (SLSSB)

In an effort to create a culture of reading across Sullivan County, the SLSSB created the "Cross County Reading Challenge." Each school district has a "team" of participating students. Whenever a student completes a book, he or she can log it on the challenge's website and watch his or her team's "flag" push forward on the digital map with each book completed. When students share a book with their friend, or when two students on the same team read the same book, the team receives an additional entry.

As an additional incentive, the SLSSB randomly draws students each month to win an Amazon gift card. Fifth-grade George L. Cooke Elementary School student, Kamsiyonna Dim, is the February winner.

Congratulations, Kamsiyonna!

DarcDarcy Gerbarg: Painting in Virtual Space

Castelli Art Space is pleased to present "Darcy Gerbarg: Painting in Virtual Space," an exhibition of recent digital paintings by New York-based artist Darcy Gerbarg. The exhibition is curated by veteran curator David S. Rubin and features two of Gerbarg's most recent bodies of work: The "Syracuse Pictures" "Inside and Outside and the Pictures"

For Darcy Gerbarg, one of today's popular technological itemsthe virtual reality headset (also known as 3DVR goggles)-has become a creative tool for exploring the frontiers of digital art, a practice that she began in the late 1970s when the genre was still in its infancy. In contrast to consumers who use the headset and controllers for entertainment, Gerbarg employs the device as an instrument for making three-dimensional compositions in

The Scene Too

By Jane Harrison

I had planned a nice easy weekend. So much for planning!

On Friday, I found out there was going to be a St Patrick's Day 'do' at the Catskill Brewery in Livingston Manor Saturday afternoon. I had PLANNED to do laundry. So out to the Brewery I went. I love it when they open for these public functions. I'm always struck by how knowledgeable the persons who man the bar area are. I always learn so much. But that aside, it was like an 'old home' day. It was great running into and catching up with John and Diana (Story's Neversink Plant Company). Kate of Kate's Herbals was there as well as photographer Les Stone. And there was food; Corned beef-sauerkraut Empanadas and Shepard's Pie provided by Chef Jaime and Anthony Carminetti of the Neversink General Store, both of which beautifully complimented the wonderful beers of the Brewery. Then in came the pipers, the Firefighter McPadden Pipes and Drums. An excellent St Patty's Day celebration.

'Old home' day turned into 'old home' weekend with an invitation to join friends I haven't seen for a while at the Monticello Fire Department's Pancake Breakfast Sunday morning. I really have to go to more of these breakfasts, they are for such a good cause. And it was packed! I wasn't able to get a seat with my inviters so I ended up between a man in a kilt and a man named Lou who seemed to know everyone...but across from musician Alan Sorenson and his wife Jane (there's another Jane?), others that I haven't seen since the summer so it worked out.

It also worked out with my inviters as we all converged after breakfast at David Rosenberg's highly successful brain child MUSIC WHERE YOU LEAST EXPECT IT at DeFilippis Bakery, also in Monticello. Finally, James Diprima, Carmine Pace, Dave and Michele Milner and I were able to share a table! This music venue is somewhat of an open mic, but it seems to attract some of the best talent in the area. There was a young woman songwriter named Tess who has a Tracy Chapman quality, Antoine Migliano (who also hosts Dutch's open mic), Alan Sorenson, Barry Adleman (cofounder of MUSIC FOR HUMANITY), Carmine Pace, David and Michele Milner (from last week's column), Greg Hatten and ending with rockin' blues numbers with bluesman Ken Bowles, James DiPrima on harp (that's musician speak for harmonica), Dave Milner and Richie Caroccio's vocals. I hadn't even realized the time had passed! I was also struck by how many non musicians were in attendance, people who just came to listen and partake of the wonderful offerings (including breakfasts) of Defilippis.

Coming up this week:

Open Mic, Thursday March 21 at Cabernet Frank's in Parksville hosted by Little Sparrow; 7pm

DARREN STEELE, Friday March 22 at Cabernet Frank's in Parksville; 7pm

MUSIC WHERE YOU LEAST EXPECT IT; Sunday March 24 at Difilippis, 506 Broadway, Monticello; 11am to 1pm-ish

Open Mic, Monday March 25 at Dutch's in Rock Hill, 7pm

Until next time.....

DarcDarcy Gerbarg: Painting in Virtual Space

(From Pg. 8) Gerbarg considers herself a "third generation abstract expressionist" and a formalist, whose primary interest is in compositional interactions that give a painting its punch. Nevertheless, Gerbarg is not disinterested in incorporating references to the real world into her digital paintings. Like abstract expressionist paintings of the 1950s and 60s, Gerbarg's "Syracuse Pictures" are dominated by abstract properties such as broad sweeping brush gestures and bold colors, but the pictorial spaces are not as flat as in typical first-generation abstract expressionism. The compositions are in fact highly illusionistic, due in part to the shadows cast from the painted gestures, but mainly because the virtual structures are themselves threedimensional. Such illusionism is therefore perfectly reflective of the virtual world within which the imagery is developed and, in some examples Gerbarg has even included faint references to a horizon with a hint of mountains.

Whereas the real world is a physically non-existent but sometimes subtly depicted virtually in the "Syracuse Pictures", it holds an equal position with formalist abstrac-tion in Gerbarg's "Inside and Outside Pictures". For this series, Gerbarg uses custom software to import her 3D light sculptures to her phone such that the virtual structure appears through the camera's lens in the physical space in front of it. Specifically, she merges the ephemeral information created in virtual space with real views of architecture and objects inside and outside a building, ranging from her home and studio to any public edifice. As in making the "Syracuse Pictures", snapshots are Photoshopped and printed on canvas, resulting in representations of "Mixed Reality (MR)," a common term for hybrids of the virtual and the real. As such, the "Inside and Outside Pictures" challenge viewers to determine what is real and what is an illusion, a puzzlement that is confounded by the presence of photographed imagery seen through doors and windows, reflected in mirrors, or appearing on a television screen.

reflected in mirrors, or appearing on a television screen.

Darcy Gerbarg: Painting in Virtual Space exhibit will be held at Castelli Art Space, March 20 - 24, 2019 with an opening reception on Wednesday, March 20, 6-8 pm and a closing reception on Sunday, March 24, 1-4 pm; Artist/Curator Gallery Talk 1:30 pm.

Monticello High School presents

Little Shop of Horrors

Seymour, Audrey and Audrey II take the stage at Monticello

Seymour, Audrey and Audrey II take the stage at Monticello High School for the presentation of Little Shop of Horrors, March 29, 30 and 31.

Meek floral assistant Seymour Krelborn has a crush on his co-worker, Audrey. He stumbles across a new breed of plant he names "Audrey II" in honor of her. But this plant is nothing like Audrey. It's a foul-mouthed, R&B-singing carnivore that promises fame and fortune to the down-and-out Seymour, with one catch - he must keep feeding the plant blood. Over time, Seymour discovers Audrey II's origins and intent.

The Monticello production stars Eddie Spears as Seymour, Briana Ibanez as Audrey, Annay Ames-Shaw as Audrey II, Erin Thompson as Mushnik, Andrew Lounsbury as the dentist and Amelia Gleyzer, Sofia Heimowitz and Kayla Lindstadt as the urchins.

Little Shop of Horrors was one of the longest-running Off-Broadway shows. It is funny and has incredible music including "Grow For Me," "Suddenly Seymour" and "The Meek Shall Inherit."

The show will take place in the Arnold Packer Hughs Auditorium at Monticello High School, 39 Breakey Ave. Tickets are $3 for students with identification, $5 for adults and free for senior citizens.

Letter to the Editor:

My name is Mike Brooks, Republican and Conservative candidate for the Sullivan County Legislature from District 3, encompassing the towns of Neversink and Rockland, as well as a small piece of Liberty.

My family and I have lived in the Grahamsville area since 1972. I am passionate about public service and have dedicated nearly 30 years of my life serving my community. I served on the Neversink Planning Board for more than seven years. I served twelve years on the Tri-Valley School Board, the last four as President. I am in my fourth year on the Neversink Town Board. I have coached boys little league baseball and girls softball.

I graduated from Tri-Valley school and the State University at New Paltz, earning a B.A. in Communications and Media Management. Since 1981 I have worked with technology in various industries, including cable and satellite television, information technology, and telecommunications, and have experienced firsthand the acceleration of technological change in our lives, our businesses, and our government

I am thankful and fortunate to have had the confidence and trust of the voters in the Town of Neversink and those of the towns that make up the Tri-Valley school district. Whenever I have asked for support, you have entrusted me with it, and I never take that for granted. Now I ask for support in my bid to represent you on the Sullivan County Legislature. I hope to meet as many of you as I can between now and November.

Respectfully, Mike Brooks 252 Sugar Loaf Road, Grahamsville, N.Y. 12740

Letter to the Editor:

For the past several years those traveling through the hamlet of Hurleyville in the Town of Fallsburg and the Columbia Hill neighborhood in the Town of Thompson have seen the numerous blue roadside signs asking "What the Hill is Going On?" referencing the proposed Gan Eden development. A recent "going-on" is the completion of the yearlong litigation brought by the Gan Eden developer against the Town of Thompson. The litigation contested the constitutionality of density levels as stipulated in the multi-family zoning ordinance. It also contested the imposition of parks and recreation fees on new developments in another code section. Nine of the eleven complaints in the suits (12/17 and amended in 2/18) were dismissed by the judge in October 2018.

In January 2019 the Town of Thompson and Gan Eden agreed to a Consent of Order Settlement in which the remaining two complaints were dismissed with prejudice. In exchange, the Town committed to expedite the project's approval process. The Town's Planning Board is directed to review the developer's latest site plan application promptly and diligently with set timelines. The developer has agreed to adhere to the Town's zoning code by planning to construct 535 townhouse type units. They previously planned a mix of 147 townhouses and 388 garden apartments. They lacked the sufficient buildable acreage under the Town's allowed density levels for property in an SR Suburban Residential zone. The developer also agreed to pay the parks and recreation fees, $1250/unit, due when building permits are issued.

To their credit, the Town has so far done their due diligence in reviewing this transformative mega- sized project and it is hoped that they will continue to do so as there remain many troubling issues to address. A hydrogeological consultant, retained by the Town, has already indicated that the 72 hour on- site well testing done in the fall of 2016 failed to follow established protocols. This called into question whether the development has a sufficient supply of potable groundwater to proceed. Some homeowners' wells were adversely affected during that testing. A question has also been raised about whether there will be enough capacity and pressure for firefighting purposes.

The developer plans to construct a questionable "package plant" wastewater treatment system to service the development. Of late, the Town of Thompson stepped in to take over the failed water and or sewer systems of at least four other existing developments; Emerald Green, Melody Lake, Dillon Farms, Harris

Woods. Another, Sackett Lake, looms on the horizon. The cost to rectify them is many, many millions of dollars. Even the NYS DEC is beginning to question the wisdom of allowing private developments to plan, build and operate their own wastewater treatment plants. As the saying goes, those who don't learn from history are condemned to repeat it.

Gan Eden and the Town of Thompson both maintain in the consent agreement that the development will meet the urgent need for rental housing in the Town due to recent and anticipated growth including the influx of new workers. A skeptic might question if this is really who the future residents will be and, if so, why build such a large complex for workers at a site that is not served by public transportation?

There are numerous other concerns to this proposed development including increased traffic, using perilously located entrances, storm water runoff, potentially flooding adjacent Hurleyville downhill areas, light and noise pollution, not to mention having to live near a multiyear construction zone.

While it's understood that the Town has to abide by the consent agreement, they are still required to conduct the Planning Board review of the application in a thorough and comprehensive fashion. Anything less would be a disservice to the surrounding communities. Also, despite the ill advised zoning changes made well over a decade ago at the developer's behest, the inherent character of our area remains rural not suburban.

Governor Cuomo Announce Taste NY Farm Markets to Begining at NYS Thruway Service Areas for 2019 - Farm Markets Provide Travelers Opportunity to Purchase Locally Grown Produce From New York's Farms

New York Farmers and Producers Encouraged to Sign Up and Showcase Homegrown Products to Millions of Thruway Customers: Interested Vendors Should Email Travelers Services @thruway.ny.gov

Governor Andrew Cuomo announced that Taste NY Farm Markets will begin at New York State Thruway service areas for the 2019 season on Monday, April 1. The Taste NY Farm Markets will promote the world-class food and beverage products found around the State. The Thruway Authority and New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets are continuing this annual offering of the finest locally grown produce from New York's forms.

"Taste NY is an economic engine in every corner of the state and has expanded New York's booming agriculture industry," Governor Cuomo said. "These farm markets at Thruway service areas will provide farmers and producers a unique opportunity to showcase their products to millions of tourists, supporting the growth of farms and small businesses across the Empire State."

"From maple syrup, to dairy, to fruits and vegetables, New York produces an amazing variety of high-quality agricultural products," said Lieutenant Governor Kathy Hochul. "Our Taste NY program showcases the best we have to offer, and we are looking forward to another season providing travelers with fresh, locally-grown products at stops along the Thruway."

The New York State Thruway features outdoor farm market locations at service areas across its 570-mile system. In 2018, 12 local producers from regions across New York State participated in the markets at 20 service areas, reaching millions of visitors who travel the Thruway throughout the Spring, Summer and Fall.

Customers will have access to locally grown fruit, vegetables, honey, maple syrup, nuts, butter, cheese and more depending on availability. Only produce grown or produced in New York State may be sold. Market days and hours of operation are dependent on product availability and weather. Motorists are encouraged to visit thruway.ny.gov for locations, hours, participating farms and available products.

New York vendors interested in selling food products at Taste NY Farm Markets should email TravelersServices@thruway.ny.gov for more information on how to participate this season.

State Agriculture Commissioner Richard Ball said, "We thank Governor Cuomo and Executive Director Driscoll for supporting Taste NY and providing our farmers and producers with a platform to showcase their top-notch products and reach new markets. The start of the farm market season is a reminder of our rich and longstanding tradition of agriculture and its economic impact in New York State."

Thruway Authority Executive Director Matthew J. Driscoll said, "Our service areas offer a unique setting which can reach millions of people from across the state, country, and world. The Thruway Authority is proud to support the Taste NY initiative by providing a venue where our local farmers and producers can sell their goods to the traveling public." (Contd. Pg. 15)

Vietnam Veterans Memorial Traveling Wall Coming to Sullivan County September 12-14

The Sullivan County Veterans Coalition is sponsoring the Traveling Vietnam Veterans Memorial Wall, the Wall that heals, coming to Sullivan County in September. The Wall was created and staffed by the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Fund. The three-quarter scale Wall replica is 375 feet long and 7.5 feet high at its tallest point. The Wall is erected in a chevron shape and visitors may take rubbings of names on the Wall.

The Wall replica is constructed of Avonite, a synthetic granite, and its 140 numbered panels are supported by an aluminum frame. Machine engraving of the 58,318 names along with LED lighting provide readability of the Wall day and night.

A truck with a 53- foot trailer that carries the Wall transforms to become a mobile Education Center. The exterior of the trailer features a timeline of the Vietnam War and the Wall along with additional information about the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, DC.

The names on the panels are arranged in the order in which they died by date and within each date the names are listed alphabetized. The most casualty deaths for a single day was on January 31, 1968 when 245 were killed on the first day of the TET Offensive. The highest death rate for one month was 2,415 during May, 1968. There are three sets of fathers and sons on the wall. 39,996 on the Wall were 22 or younger. The largest age groups were 18 and 19 with 8,283 and 33,103 respectively. 997 soldiers were killed on their first day in Vietnam and 1,448 soldiers were killed on their last day in Vietnam. There are eight women on the wall and there are 1,500 service members unaccounted for.

Everyone listed on the Wall had a mother, father, sister or brother, wife or girlfriend, friend and comrades in arms. The sorrow and pain of this war and all wars is unimaginable and survivors will carry it to their graves.

The Wall will arrive in Rock Hill escorted by motorcycle groups and will open for display on the Firemens Field at 2:00 PM, Thursday, September 12 and will be open 24 hours a day on September 13 and 14. This is a very expensive project as there are transportation costs and the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Fund staff have to be fed and have their hotel expenses paid for. The Sullivan County Veterans Coalition is asking for support with a donation of any amount. Checks can be made out to and mailed to: SCVC Wall Fund, PO Box 1527, Monticello, NY 12701-1527

Two Measles Cases Confirmed Exposure Limited; Health Officials Monitoring Closely

Liberty, NY - The Sullivan County Public Health Department has been notified of two positive cases of measles in Sullivan County residents.

- The individuals are considered to have been contagious from March 4, 2019 to March 12, 2019. They resided during this time primarily in Sullivan County but did spend time in and travel to Brooklyn, where there is an ongoing measles outbreak.
- Both Sullivan County and the NYC Health Department, in conjunction with the NYS Department of Health (NYSDOH), are working to contact those suspected of having been exposed during this contagious period.
- There are no known exposures to Sullivan County residents at this time.

Individuals are not at risk of contracting measles if they are immune. A person is unlikely to get measles if they were born before January 1, 1957, have received two doses of the MMR (Measles, Mumps and Rubella) vaccine or have a lab test confirming immunity.

Those individuals lacking immunity, or not sure if they have been vaccinated, should contact their healthcare provider if they develop measles symptoms: a fever, rash, cough, conjunctivitis or runny nose. Symptoms usually appear 10-12 days after exposure.

To prevent the spread of illness, the NYSDOH is advising individuals who may have been exposed and who have symptoms consistent with measles to contact their health care provider or a local emergency department before going for care. This will help to prevent others at these facilities from being exposed to the illness.

What Is Measles?

Measles is a highly contagious respiratory disease caused by a virus that is spread by direct contact with nasal or throat secretions of infected people. Symptoms generally appear in two stages.

In the first stage, which lasts two to four days, the individual may have a runny nose, cough and a slight fever. Eyes may become reddened and sensitive to light while the fever gradually rises each day, often peaking as high as 103° to 105° F. Small bluish white spots surrounded by a reddish area may also appear on the inside of the mouth.

The second stage begins on the third to seventh day and consists of a red blotchy rash lasting five to six days. The rash usually begins on the face and then spreads downward and outward, reaching the hands and feet. The rash fades in the same order that it appeared, from head to extremities. A person can spread measles from 4 days before the onset of rash through 4 days after the rash begins. Although measles is usually considered a childhood disease, it can be contracted at any age.

The single best way to prevent measles is to be vaccinated. Individuals should receive 2 doses of MMR vaccine to be protected. If a person is unsure if they are immune, they should contact their healthcare provider. The first dose should be given at 12-15 months of age and the second dose should be given at 4 to 6 years of age (age of school entry).

In New York State, measles immunization is required of children enrolled in schools, daycare, and pre-kindergarten. Since August 1990, college students have also been required to demonstrate immunity against measles.

Sullivan County Public Health Services has sent an advisory to area health care providers about the measles exposure. Providers should report all suspected cases of measles to Public Health at 845-292-5910.

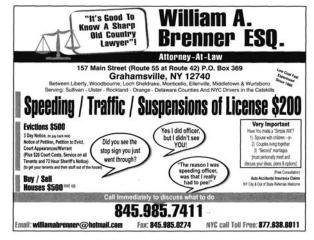

More information about measles can be found at www.health.ny.gov/publications/2170.

NYS DEC Highlights

On March 7, DEC Central Dispatch received a call from a member of a four-person hiking group that needed assistance descending from Kaaterskill Falls. The group did not have proper traction devices for the icy conditions and were stuck in the middle of the falls. Forest Rangers Chris DiCintio, Jason Seeley, David Nally, and Katherine Fox responded to the area and provided the group with crampons and microspikes. The fourth individual had gotten stuck on a separate section of the falls, and one Ranger repelled down to assist the hiker to a safer area. Once the group was together, the Rangers hiked them out to the Laurel House parking lot. All members of the group were released in good health upon reaching their vehicles.

released in good health upon reaching their vehicles.
On March 9, DEC Central Dispatch received a call from Sullivan County 911 regarding a 57-year-old man having chest pains while hiking to the top of Table Mountain in the Slide Mountain Wilderness Area. Communications were poor and the patient was nearly four miles from Denning Trailhead, which made the mountain rescue challenging. Three different groups of rescuers, including Forest Rangers, NYC Department of Environmental Protection Police, and local fire and EMS personnel made their way into the woods to assist the patient. Fortunately, a registered nurse was in the man's hiking group and able to assist the patient while the hikers waited for help to arrive. EMS personnel reached the patient, assessed his condition as stable, and began the carry out. Ranger Ken Gierloff met the group on the trail and brought the patient off the mountain via snowmobile. After six hours, the man was transported to Catskill Regional Medical Center for further care.

Be sure to properly prepare and plan before entering the backcountry. Visit DEC's Hiking Safetyand Adirondack Backcountry Information webpage for more information.

In the ninteen-twenties, a schoolteacher creates a national furor when he breaks the law against teaching evolution. Dir: Stanley Kramer. Starring: Spencer Tracy, Fredric March, Gene Kelly, Florence Eldridge, Dick York, Harry Morgan, Donna Anderson, Elliott Reid, Claude Akins, Noah Beery, Jr., Norman Fell. Vocals by Leslie Uggams. Absorbing adaptation of Jerome Lawrence, Robert E. Lee play based on notorious Scopes Monkey Trial of 1925, when Clarence Darrow defended and William Jennings Bryan prosecuted a schoolteacher arrested for teaching Darwin's Theory of Evolution. Names are changed (Kelly's character is based on acid-tongued H. L. Mencken), but the issue is real and still relevant. An acting tour de force, with solid support from Morgan as the judge, Reid as a lawyer, Eldridge as March's devoted wife, supported by surperb peformances by all. Only the offbeat casting of Kelly, gives us an "audience point of view," therefore we are enthralled. Screenplay by Nathan E. Douglas (Nedrick Young) and Harold Jacob Smith. Remade as 1988 TVM with Kirk Douglas and Jason Robards. Also remade as a TVM in 1999 with Jack Lemmon and George C. Scott.
