The event will feature the retiring of the flag, which has flown for the past six months, in honor of Navy Veteran, Donald TerBush. In exchange for the flag just retired, Scout Troop 97 will then accept a flag presented by the Lamb Family of Parksville, which will fly for six months, in honor of Marine Veteran, William Lamb, Jr. Participating in the event will be Boy Scout Troops 97 and 87, an Honor Guard of local veterans and representatives of the Grahamsville Rural Cemetery Association,

Claryville Pottery Memorial Weekend Show & Sale

Two potters, three days, and a whole lotta' clay...Neversink artists Anne-Marie Kremer and Chris Parrow are teaming up again this Memorial Day Weekend to exhibit their new work in stoneware and porcelain. The three-day show has become an annual tradition and will offer lots of choices of functional and decorative handmade pottery for the home, as well as a chance to make new ones.

Anne-Marie's pottery is classic and graceful, combining traditional techniques and glazes with stylish, sophis-ticated forms. Chris's Catskill Mountain themed glazing creates painterly images of our local scenery on decorative and functional pieces. (Contd. Pg. 3)

The theme of the day is to vote, dine and enjoy good music.

The food was delicious and the music was delightful. The elementary school chorus, beginning band, bell choir, concert band and the recorder ensemble entertained for over an hour and a half to enthusiastic applause of parents, classmates, staff and guests. The stage was beautifully decorated as it has been over many years by art teacher Ms. Maura Pellegrino, who will be retiring this June. (Contd. Pg. 4)

Fire Department Gets First Tests

Two chimney fires on succeeding nights provide the newly formed Fire Department with its first real tests. The results should have been assuring to members of the fire district.

On Tuesday morning at 1:30 the Fire Department responded to a call from Mrs. Hollie Letteer in the Wessel Cross house. When questioned, Mr. Letteer said he had been aware of the smoke and had put salt on the fire before he left for work at 11:45. When the smoke had become worse at 1:30, Mrs. Letteer roused the Crosses and a call was put in to the Fire Department. In five minutes the engine was on the scene. The men worked until 4:30 extinguishing the fire.

Damage was limited to the floor of a bedroom, some of the siding on the upper end of the house and the chimney itself.

On Tuesday evening, about 10 o'clock a call was received from the John Condren home where a chimney fire had resulted from the lighting of a stove which had not been in use during the Condrens' absence. The cause of the fire was believed to have been the accumulation of creosote from the wood stove. Damage here was also slight, being limited to the chimney and walls. The smoke which penetrated the house was not found to have done much harm. It was necessary to chop a hole in the chimney in order to remove the stoppage of soot before the fire could be extinguished. The fire was declared out in about two hours.

Over the Top

Oh, the Places You'll Go... at Your Local Library!

(From Pg. 1) The children of our community have tremendous potential, and the Daniel Pierce Library is pleased to offer numerous opportunities for the advancement of children's literacy.

Just recently, on May 4th, local children donned their cozy pajamas and packed the library's Reading Room during a Screen-Free Week Pajama Party and Story Time party! Even Mother Goose made an appearance!

Over the years, the library's preschool programs have set tots as young as 12 months on the road to a bright future. The programs are free and include fun-filled, ageappropriate music and movement activities; read-a-louds and interactive felt-stories from quality children's literature; crafts; and the opportunity to check out books. All within a warm, child-friendly environment! The children are always greeted with smiles at the Daniel Pierce Library, and soon they begin to associate books and reading with having a good time!

The Daniel Pierce Library also provides Story Hour programming for students enrolled in the Tri-Valley School Universal Preschool. Librarians visit the school regularly with their "traveling library" and engage the children with stories. Periodically, the students enjoy trips to the Daniel Pierce Library, which allows each boy and girl to experience first-hand the library as a center of lifelong learning that will always be available to them as they mature. Library staff are always on hand to assist with research projects, recommend books appropriate to reading level, and inspire young readers! Students who have visited the library regularly as children continue to do so as teens, whether it's to read quietly, do research for assignments, or to work on the computer.

The Daniel Pierce Library's mission of nurturing a love of reading, learning, and excellence in education would not be possible without the support of the numerous staff, Board of Trustees, volunteers, and community members who are its very foundation. On behalf of the children of our community, we extend a heartfelt thank you to everyone who has supported our children's literacy programs over the years.

Fabulous Ferns

A walk in the woods this time of year will reveal the delightful elegance of feathery ferns that are now changing the forest floor from brown to green.

Ferns have been with us for more than 300 million years and during that time the variations of their form has been extraordinary. Ferns grow in many different habitats around the world. Ferns were at their height during the Carbon-iferous Period (the fifth period of the Paleozoic between the Devonian and Permian periods) as they were the dominant part of the vegetation at that time. Many of the larger ferns became extinct but some did evolve into our modern ferns.

According to an article published in the journal Nature, in May of 2010 the Gilboa Reservoir had been partially emptied for a maintenance project and an international research team unearthed and investigated an entire fossil forest dating back 385 million years. The Gilboa fossil forest in the Catskill Mountains is generally referred to as 'the oldest fossil forest'. The team described bases of the Gilboa trees "as spectacular bowl-shaped depressions up to nearly two meters, (6 1/2 feet) in diameter, surrounded by thousands of roots of trees that looked like palm trees and grew up to 10 meters (33 feet) in height."

Four hundred million years ago, ferns came up from the sea. They were the first plants on earth to have upright stems that reached through the tidal ooze toward the sun. The stem contained a pipeline fiber that carried plant food from roots to leaves, exposing it to sunlight where chlorophyll was produced. Thus began the process of photosynthesis for all future plants to come, a priceless legacy from the fern's vascular pipeline.

With this wonderful accomplishment, ferns flourished for millions of years and their decayed remains fossilized into the vast coal beds of our times. Today there is over 10,000 known surviving species of fern that reproduce via spores and have neither seeds nor flowers. Fern differ from mosses as they are vascular.

Spores grow on the underside of fronds in rows of tiny brown packets, which burst into brown dust when mature. Other spores grow in clusters like grapes on separate stalks. Each fern has its own distinctive spore dot pattern that provides an easy and reliable way to identify ferns. When a spore packet splits open and a spore lands on a moist suitable spot, it grows into a tiny green heart-shaped pad (gametophyne) with male and female parts that join to form a fertilized cell. This second plant (sporophyte) grows roots and leaves, eventually becoming an independent baby fern. It takes seven years for a spore to become a mature fern.

During medieval times ferns were believed to have magical properties. They believed their seed and flowers were invisible. Throughout Medieval Europe, people foraged in the forest to try to catch the magical fern seed, just when it was set to ripen, at the stroke of midnight on Midsummer's Eve when they claimed the seeds would glow! If you caught the fern seed, it would confer magical powers, and if you had a handful of fern seed, you could become invisible.

Folks still comb the woods for ferns, but these days it's to make 'magic' 'in the kitchen. Steamed like asparagus and served with hollandaise sauce, or sauteed in butter and garlic, there's nothing more delicious than the unsprouted heads of bracken or cinnamon ferns in the early spring; or to recognize the delicate charm of a Ladyfern, a pale-green hayscented fern whose feathery fonds seem to do a pirouette as it follows the sun across the sky.

Beautiful, ancient, and mysterious, ferns reawaken us each spring, re-enchant us with magic, and nourish us body and soul.

Jack of Spies

Mysterious Book Report No. 242

by John Dwaine McKenna

Those of us who follow the news and current events can't help but feel at times that the world is 'going to hell in a handbasket,' to quote an old refrain . . . but those of us who study history know it's all happened before, and the world's still here, and still full of crisis. Case in point: In the first ten years of the twentieth century, three wars were fought . . . the Spanish-American in Cuba and the Philippines, the Boer War in South Africa between Britain and the Orange Free State, and the Mexican Civil War where tens of thousands lost their lives. And those were just the warm-ups, the undercard for the main event of the first quarter of that incredible century, because the Mac-Daddy of all wars was warming up on the sidelines.

World War I, the Great War, or The War To End All Wars as it was variously called, slaughtered tens of millions and has been the subject of innumerable books. But the years leading up to WWI, the events and causes of the cataclysm have pretty much been ignored

Jack of Spies, (SOHO Press Inc., $27.95, 338 pages, ISBN 978-1-61695-268-6) by noted British novelist David Downing, is a tour de force of the sights and sounds and events leading up to the 'guns of August,' which heralded the beginning of the first-ever world-wide mechanized war. Mr. Downing does this by following the exploits of a Scottish world-hopping luxury automobile salesman named Jack McColl. He's a full-time executive who's traveling around the world, introducing wealthy buyers to the newest in automotive technology and British craftsmanship in the form of a hand-built Maia touring car. It's the perfect cover for his other job . . . spying for the Royal Naval Admiralty on behalf of the British Empire and His Majesty the King. The novel opens in the fall of 1913, and we meet Jack in Shanghai, China where he's touting automobiles, scouting out the defenses of the German naval installations, and assessing their state of readiness in case the long-anticipated war in Europe starts up. The Germans have established military bases on the mainland of warlord-dominated, opium-addicted China, and they're treating it as their own sovereign territory. Jack is part of a fledging British spy service. He's pretty much on his own, without adequate funding or backup, operating by instinct, and reporting to a distant supervisor in London by telephone, telegraph and regular mail. As if that's not enough, McColl becomes smitten with an Irish-American newspaper reporter named Caitlin Hanley whose brother Colm may be mixed up with the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

From there, the action and the impossible romance continue non-stop as McColl makes his way around the world, managing to hit nearly every trouble spot the world had to offer. Richly annotated with actual news and current events, this fast-paced and erudite novel will entertain, educate and delight all readers as it begins a new action-adventure series from a master story-teller and historian.

Free Tick Bite Prevention Signs for Parks and Trails, Playgrounds and Campgrounds

With warmer weather arriving, we look forward to spending more of our time outdoors. Sullivan County Public Health Services would like to remind everyone that with warmer weather comes tick season. While ticks are capable of spreading several different diseases, there are many ways we can reduce our risk of tick bites and exposure to tick-borne illness.

We can reduce the tick habitat around our homes by doing the following:

Keep lawns mowed and edges trimmed

Keep leaves raked

Stack woodpiles neatly and away from the house, preferably off the ground

Place a 3 foot barrier of gravel or wood chips between lawns and wooded areas

Keep playground equipment, decks and patios away from trees and in the sun

Remove any old furniture, mattresses or trash from the yard

Keep ground under bird feeders clean so as to not attract small animals into the yard that may have ticks

While we are outside, there are also ways we can reduce our chance of getting bit by a tick. Follow these guidelines to help protect you and

Walk in the center of trails, avoiding contact with overgrown grass, brush, and leaf litter

Wear light colored clothing with a tight weave

- Wear enclosed shoes, long pants, and a longsleeved shirt
- Tuck pants into socks or boots
- Tuck shirt into pants
- Avoid sitting directly on the ground or stonewalls
- Keep long hair tied back, especially while gardening

Bathe or shower as soon as possible after being outside; within 2 hours if possible

 Do a final, full-body tick check at the end of each day. This should also include children and pets that have spent time outdoors

To further remind everyone using outdoor spaces of the importance of tick safety, Public Services has heavy gauge plastic and metal signs available on a first-come, first-served basis for posting in visible, high traffic public areas, such as parks, playgrounds, hiking trails, campgrounds and athletic facilities. There is no fee for these signs however, we do request a commitment to hang the signs in visible locations, and pictures of the signs hung in their locations be sent to Public Health so we may catalog the location of these signs. If you would like to request a sign, please contact Public Health Services at (845) 292-5910, ext. 2243.

In addition to these signs, Public Health Services also has educational materials available on tick bite prevention and tick-borne illnesses. Public Health staff are available for informational presentations to groups on ways to prevent tick bites and reducing the risks of tick-borne illness. For more information, call Public Health Services at (845) 292-5910, ext. 2243.

The Olive Jar - By Carol LaMonda

Dogs just don't live long enough. I guess they live so intensely in the moment that they never fear the future nor regret the past. Maybe time goes faster like that when we live a decade in the present.

Diva, our dear chocolate lab, left us a week ago in congestive heart failure. The vet said she had a "big heart," but she didn't mean it the way I knew it. Dive did have a big heart. It was enlarged with the unconditional love and loyalty she stored there. She leaves her well-worn frisbees, a box half-full of milk bones, lots of stray fur, her favorite cushion, her tennis ball, her warm spot on the bed, and a big hole in my heart.

The house is too darn quiet. When I walk in the door there is silence where there used to be a burst of deep welcoming barks. There are no half eaten milk bone crumbs to step on or empty marrow bones to trip over. Her bowls have been washed and put out of sight. The bear, which she barked away, came back knowing the faithful guardian was not here any more. The house is much neater and tidy, and I hate it.

I see her everywhere I look because she had the run of the house and command of seven acres of her woodsy domaine. After all, she was the DIVA. When I walk to get the paper I can remember ever morning for the nine years that she would walk with me.

If a dog had a bucket list, Diva finished hers ahead of schedule. Trips to Cape Cod, swimming in my son's pool and Lake Sacandaga, good companions of Peeka and Tonche, rides to the dump, walks to the stream, table scraps, ear and belly rubs, and a spot by the woodstove in winter had to be high on her list.

Diva may have crossed over the rainbow bridge, but her spirit haunts me from every nook and cranny of the house and every path of the woods and ridge. Rest in Peace, Dear Diva, and thank you for all the love and joy you shared with your fur-less family.

Radio Station WJFF Radio Catskill will Host its Annual Fundraiser Auction

Jeffersonville, NY - Community radio station WJFF Radio Catskill will host its annual fundraiser auction on Saturday, June 4th 2016 at the Jeffersonville Fire Hall on Main Street in Jeffersonville, NY. WJFF is currently seeking donations of fine housewares, works of art, antiques, kitchen goods, decorative objects, gift certificates and more, which it will sell to the highest bidder during this traditional annual event.

WJFF's fundraiser auction dates back to the station's earliest days.

"Folks who came to the auctions regularly got to watch the children of WJFF volunteers grow up. The auctions are a really special thing to a lot of people," said David Dann, current on-air volunteer and past board president.

This year, the theme of WJFF's auction is "Something for Everyone" and the auction will include an indoor yard sale with lots of low-priced items. Returning this year will be a table of silent auction items and a showcase live auction featuring the station's General Manager as auctioneer.

"The goal of the live auction is for everyone to have a good time and to go home with some special treasures without feeling too intimidated to bid," said General Manager Adam Weinreich. "WJFF auctions are fun, easy and low-pressure. And there is always a chance to walk out with a few really valuable items for a fraction of what they'd normally cost.'

Auction preview begins at 11:00am in the Jeffersonville Fire Hall. A delicious lunch will be served along with homemade baked goods from station volunteers. At 1pm the live auction will commence with a short break at 1:30pm for guests to stretch their legs and bid on silent auc-

Donations are tax-deductible and may be dropped off at WJFF's Jeffersonville, NY studio during normal business hours. To arrange an after-hours donation, donors are asked to speak with station staff at 845-482-4141.

WJFF is unable to accept donations of large items such as furniture and refrigerators without special arrangement, and donors are asked not to bring items which are damaged or broken.

Its contingent of more than 100 volunteers provide listeners with a mix of both locally and nationally produced programming on the air at 90.5 FM and 94.5FM and streamed live and archived at www.wjffradio.org

Pressure Canning! Learn this Skill at the Olive Free Library

West Shokan, NY: How do you preserve foods like soups, fruits, and meats so you can keep them on your pantry shelf for a long time? Pressure can-ning! Learn this skill at the Olive Free Library on Saturday, May 28 at 10 a.m. A $15 lab fee includes all materials and equipment.

Pressure canning is a food preservation method that all cooks and gardeners should have in their skill set. In this hands-on workshop, participants will learn how to pressure can their favorite foods to make them shelf-stable for months or years. Cornell Cooperative Extension's Janie Greenwald will review equipment, best practices, timing, and all everything needed to make safe canned foods.

Acidic foods like tomatoes can be canned in a boiling bath, but less acidic vegetables, soups, and meats need to be brought to a higher temperature than you can achieve with boiling water. When it comes to making food shelf stable, it's not safe to just wing it, a course with a canning expert can be an excellent investment.

A lab fee of $15 covers all the materials including food and jars, and all participants will go home with a jar of food. This course normally cost $30 when offered at Cornell Cooperative Extension and the cost is being subsidized by the library to all for broader participation. Please call the library at 845-657-2482 to sign up.

Fallsburg Seniors Shine at Scholarship Luncheon

For sixty-five years, Fallsburg Central School District has been awarding Community Scholarships to worthy members of the senior class. In that time well over $300,000 in financial support has been offered. On Sunday, May 1, 2016, ten students and their families were honored with scholarships at the annual Blossom Cohen Luncheon at Bernie's Holiday Restaurant in Rock Hill, NY.

Winners of Samuel Beytin Community Scholarships were Giselle Caballero, Joshua Hazelnis, Stephanie Perna, Brendon Sapolsky, Brooke Sapolsky, and Morgan Williams. Bijal Patel earned two awards: the Esther Mintz Flanagan and the Blossom Cohen Memorial Scholarships. The Edward Bryan Memorial Scholarship went to Katherine Mendez. Oscar Beltran received the Milton Brizel Memorial Scholarship, and Jaidon Ramirez Zeno earned the Candy Gold Bolton Memorial Scholarship. Three students won honor awards for highest academic averages-Joshua Hazelnis, Katherine Mendez and Bijal Patel.

Each recipient spoke eloquently in thanking the families that were responsible for providing the monetary awards that will help support them in their continuing education at various colleges and universities. They also acknowledged their parents and families for encouragement throughout their lives. In recognizing several influential teachers, almost all the seniors thanked counselor Ms. Meryl Curry for doing an outstanding job in helping them prepare during this busiest of their school years while she was in her initial year in the guidance office.

Special thanks for the program go out to the Luncheon Committee headed by Ms. Renee Kates, who emceed the festivities. Superintendent Dr. Ivan Katz welcomed the guests, thanked the committee for their selfless work in keeping the scholarship program alive and vital for over sixty years, and acknowledged the scholarship winners, their families, and the school staff for supporting these special students over their years

One of the Committee members, retired teacher Jay Kasofsky, informed the audience that he recently spoke with Ms. Florence Beytin, widow of Samuel Beytin, who celebrated her 100th birthday this past year. She told Mr. Kasofsky that she sends her congratulations to all the young people that earned scholarships. It was a fitting tribute and a living testament to the longevity of the Fallsburg Community Scholarship program.

March for Babies:

Tri-Valley Students Raise $3,300
On Sunday, May 15, over 30 Tri-Valley students participated in the March of Dimes sponsored March for Babies Walk.

The participants-who are all active members in Junior FBLA, Junior FFA, FBLA, or FFA-set an ambitious goal to raise $3,000. Our students not only met their goal, but exceeded it by raising an astounding $3,300! All of the money raised went to the March of Dimes organization to help fight prematurity so more babies can get the strongest start possible. The club members were also excellent representatives for our school. Chaperones and advisors Tara Berescik, Brenda Hay, Matt Haynes, Nancy Peters, and Judy Swarthout were extremely proud of all of the students who chose to walk and raise money.

The Junior FBLA, Junior FFA, FBLA, and FFA clubs would like to give a special thanks to their families and to local community members. The March for Babies Walk was a huge success thanks to the generosity of these sponsors along with the desire from the students. A job well done by all involved!

Celebrating Catskill Waters

Comes to Livingston Manor
Livingston Manor, NY - "Celebrating Catskill Waters: Past and Present" will be on exhibit at Morgan Outdoors, beginning Saturday, May 28ththrough Sunday, July 10th. The public is invited to an opening receptionand a special presentation by John Conway on Sunday, May 29, 2016. Duringthe exhibition period, several additional presentations and hikes alongheadwaters are planned.

On loan from the Time and the Valleys Museum in Grahamsville, NY, the collaborative exhibition "Celebrating Catskill Waters: Past and Present" explores the enjoyment Catskill waters have brought to area residents and visitors through swimming, fishing and boating over the past 150 years. More than 35 individuals, museums, historical societies and municipalities in Sullivan County joined together to create this exhibition, including the Sullivan County Historical Society, Catskill Fly Fishing Center and Museum, Catskill Watershed Corporation, Basket Historical Society of the Upper Delaware Valley, Sullivan County Historian John Conway and the Upper Delaware Scenic and Recreational River, NPS.

Sunday, May 29 at 4:00pm, Sullivan County Historian, John Conway, kicks off the exhibition, examining the recreational uses of Catskill waters in his presentation "Rivers and Lakes and Streams, Oh My! The History of Recreational Water Use in Sullivan County." Sullivan County's rivers and lakes and streams have been a critical component in the history of tourism here, every bit as important as the comedians and basketball players in building what became for many years the greatest tourism destination in the country. In fact, as tourism became the area's number one industry, many of the ponds that had been utilized, and in some cases, even created, for industrial purposes, became lakes overnight. Pike Pond became Kenoza Lake, Long Pond became Tennanah Lake, Pleasant Pond became Kiamesha Lake, and so on, all in an attempt to better compete for the tourism dollar.

Following Conway's presentation, at approximately 5:00pm, the public is invited to an Opening Reception for the exhibition, hosted by the Time and the Valleys Museum and Morgan Outdoors.

To reserve a seat for John Conway's presentation and to RSVP for the Opening Reception, call Morgan Outdoors at 845 439 5507. Morgan Outdoors is located at 46 Main Street, Criminal Justice competition Livingston Manor, NY. www.morgan-outdoors.com

House passes 2017 Defense Policy Bill, including Legislation Authored by Congressman Gibson to Stop the Drawdown of U.S. Land Forces

Washington, DC - Congressman Chris Gibson (NY-19) announced the passage in the House last night of the 2017 Defense Policy Bill, which includes legislation he authored to stop the Administration's planned drawdown of U.S Land Forces and authorizes a 2.1% pay raise for members of the military.

bers of the military.

"With emerging threats around the world, today's security environment is too dangerous to shrink our military to the lowest level since before World War II," said Congressman Gibson. "The drawdown of our Army and Marine Corps, which is based on dated strategic guidance, hampers our ability to deter our enemies, deploy troops in response to natural disasters and global health crises, and provide adequate support for troops and military families coping with PTSD and related conditions. I am very proud the Defense Policy Bill, which funds our military and establishes critical Department of Defense policy, incorporates my legislation. Passage of this bill represents a significant milestone as we work to reestablish peace through strength, provide for our troops, and protect our people.

Congressman Gibson is the author of the Protecting Our Security Through Utilizing Right-Sized End-Strength (POSTURE) Act of 2016, a bipartisan bill co-sponsored by 53 Members of Congress that was included in the Defense Policy Bill by the House Armed Services Committee last month and paid for with dedicated funding.

The Defense Policy Bill also includes Congressman Gibson's initiatives to provide troops with professional certifications that translate to the civilian workforce, require the placement of current or former enlisted members of the Armed Forces on any panel charged with making changes to military personnel regulations, and enhance the readiness of the Global Response Force, the nation's first responders to global threats.

In addition to authorizing a 2.1% pay raise for members of the military, the bill strengthens Congressional oversight of Department of Defense suicide prevention programs, provides opportunities for space-available flights on military aircraft for veterans with disabilities, and institutes reforms to ensure that military service dogs are properly cared for when they are retired from active service.

Neversink Fire Department Hosted the Sullivan County Dive Task Force

The Neversink Fire Department hosted the Sullivan County Dive Task Force, May 16 at the Fiedler's Pond. The Dive Task Force provided a Water Emergency Drill for the Tri-Valley Fire Departments. Ranking officers in attendance were; Grahamsville- Chief Ed McCarthy, Claryville-Chief Glen Vandenberg and Neversink-Asst. Chief John Skinner. Notable support from Capt. Russ Turner, of NFD. This drill will help prepare first responders to be safe when faced with a water related emergency. The Neversink FD began analysis to locate a suitable

The Neversink FD began analysis to locate a suitable site to hold the emergency drill in March. The requirements were a body of water with easy access, at least 10 feet deep. A sturdy shore line was a big plus. There were two suitable sites, the Sam Hook pond and the Fiedler's pond. Fiedler's pond was picked as the ideal drill site. We gratefully thank the Hook Family for their willingness to open their property for our training mission. We let the neighborhood know in advance that our emergency drill was coming to a location near them.

On the evening of the drill Neversink FD mobilized the Ladies Auxiliary-President Lori Turner; to provide refreshments. Claryville provided Fire Police to manage traffic. The Tri-V fire companies assembled at Fiedler's Pond. Neversink and Grahamsville EMS were in support of operations.

The Dive Task Force personnel quickly established an Incident Command Post, defined a safety zone and carried out rescue/recovery skills. Fire Fighters were trained about water safety and rescue protocols. Attending the drill: 44 firefighters/EMS, 5 observers and 21 dive team members.

A huge Thank You, Walt Fielder and Family. Your enthusiasm from our first inquiry was positive and welcoming. You opened your property without reservation and supported our efforts. The drill was a success due to you and your generosity.

We urge ALL please use life jackets every time you are on the water.

We are proud of our Community and willingly serve as your Emergency Responders. Are you able to do more? Volunteer with us, accept the challenge.

SC Sheriff's Office to Conduct

New York State Boater's Safety Course

The Sullivan County Sheriff's Office will be conducting a New York State Boater's Safety course on Sunday June 5, 2016. The course will be held at the Hurleyville Fire Company, 166 Main St. in Hurleyville from 8:00 AM to 4:00 PM. Anyone who is 10 years of age or older is eligible to attend the class. All individuals born on or after 5/1/96 are now required to successfully complete an approved safety course in order to operate a motorboat.

The Sheriff's Office Marine Patrol Unit is presenting this class free of charge. New York State charges a $10.00 fee for the Boater Safety Certificate. Individuals under 18 receive their certificate for free. Seating is limited. To sign up for the class, please call the Sheriff's Patrol at 845-794-7100, press option #1 for the desk.

UC Comptroller Addresses State
Association on the Sharing Economy

Association on the Sharing Economy
On Thursday, May 19, 2016, Ulster County
Comptroller Elliott Auerbach and Deputy Comptroller
Evan Gallo, Esq. will be addressing representatives from New York State's fifty-seven Counties at the New York State Association of Counties' Finance School in Syracuse, New York, on the challenges and opportunities of "rent by owner" vacation rentals such as Airbnb and other online platforms.

Auerbach and Gallo will discuss the hurdles facing county officials as the "sharing economy" continues to emerge in markets that were once limited to operators of traditional lodging and resorts. The presentation will include addressing local sales and hotel occupancy tax collection, local planning codes and enforcement of local zoning and safety ordinances.

Auerbach stated, "in today's economy, with Airbnb, Flip key, VRBO and the myriad of room re-marketers and consolidators, hosting platforms and facilitators, our present laws are antiquated and in desperate need to be brought into the 21st Century."

The New York State Association of Counties is the voice of county officials and is steadfast in communicating the needs and recommendations of its members to State and Federal lawmakers.

Ulster County Executive Mike Hein in Conjunction with the UC Legislature and the UC Clerk Announces Efforts to Create a Poorhouse Memorial at the UC Fairgrounds Complex

The Historical Memorial Honors The Memories Of Those Who Lived At The Poorhouse in the Past and Serves As A Reminder That There Are Still Those Who Need Assistance Today

Kingston, NY- County Executive Mike Hein was joined by Nina Postupack, Ulster County Clerk; Ken Ronk, Chairman of the Ulster County Legislature; Geoffrey Miller, Ulster County Historian; Susan Stessin-Cohn, Town of New Paltz Historian; Sculptor and Artist Trina Greene; and members of the Poorhouse Memorial Committee to announce efforts to create a Poorhouse Memorial at the Ulster County Fairgrounds Complex, near the County Pool. The County Fairgrounds in New Paltz, New York was previously the site of the Ulster County Poorhouse between 1828 and 1976. A poorhouse was a tax-supported residential institution where people lived if they could not support themselves without community assistance. Thousands of years, Ulster County Clerk Nina Postupack and Town of New Paltz Historian Stessin-Cohn, spent many years researching and developing educational materials on the Ulster County Poorhouse. Pouring through fragile yellowed pages of hand written records, Stessin-Cohn uncovered the rich and often tragic history of the site. She summarized her research on the Ulster County website http://ulstercountyny.gov/poorhouse and lectures at schools and community groups.

New Paltz Sculptor and Artist Trina Greene was deeply moved after hearing Stessin-Cohn speak and was inspired to create a life-size statue of a lone woman clutching a shawl as she faces an uncertain future. The woman's figure fades and morphs into wildflowers and creatures of the fields. Stessin-Cohn had always envisioned a memorial at the County fairgrounds and a group of supporters who shared her vision was formed the Poorhouse Memorial Committee to raise funds to have the statue cast in bronze.

formed, the Poorhouse Memorial Committee, to raise funds to have the statue cast in bronze.

The cost of this project is estimated at $30,000. In order to make this memorial a reality, Ulster County Executive Mike Hein offered support for this historical project with a financial $15,000 commitment. This will commemorate an almost forgotten part of Ulster County's history by incorporating it into a capital project already planned for the county pool. However, the Poorhouse Memorial Committee still needs to raise an additional $10,000 to complete the statue in bronze. Upon completion it will be incorporated into the landscaping near the Ulster County pool and become part of an educational historic exhibit to ensure this part of our history will never be forgotten.

Michael P. Hein, Ulster County Executive, "This is part of Ulster County's history, and although the buildings no longer stand, it is important to remember what it was like in the past and how far we've come today," said County Executive Mike Hein. "I appreciate the work of the Committee who together with Historian Susan Stessin-Cohn and Sculptor Trina Greene will help create a beautiful and powerful statute to represent those who were less fortunate and lived in the Poorhouse years ago, as well as a constant reminder of those who are struggling today. Ulster County offers a variety of essential services to ensure those in need receive the assistance they require during difficult times and it is extraordinary how far we as a society have evolved."

Kenneth J. Ronk, Jr., Chairman, Ulster County Legislature - "I want to thank Susan Stessin-Cohn, Trina Greene and the rest of the Memorial Committee for the vision and dedication that has gone into creating this memorial," said Chairman Kenneth J. Ronk, Ulster County Legislature. "I thank County Executive Mike Hein and County Clerk Nina Postupack for supporting it. It is an example of how different groups can work together and can accomplish more that they can if they stand alone."

Nina Postupack, Ulster County Clerk, "Susan Stessin- Cohen has a talent for uncovering the story behind these ledger entries and brings the lives of these people to light," said Ulster County Clerk Nina Postupack. "She tells the stories of families, slaves, immigrants and others in need and captures the times they lived in. The Poorhouse and the story it tells has always been an integral part of the Ulster County Archives."

Geoffrey Miller, Ulster County Historian "This is an amazing effort to restore and preserve a part of Ulster County's history," said Ulster County Historian Geoffrey Miller. "I appreciate County Executive Hein's interest in helping make this statute a reality and I commend the Committee as well as County Clerk Nina Postupack, New Paltz Historian Susan Stessin-Cohn and Sculptor Trina Greene for their amazing research, efforts and talent."

Susan Stessin-Cohn, Town of New Paltz Historian, "After twenty years of research, I am pleased to have a place that will represent the thousands of people in need who lived and died at this historic location," said Susan Stessin-Cohn, Town of New Paltz Historian. "It is important to remember the past and bring attention to the plight of those in need today."

Trina Greene, Sculptor/Artist, describes the monument, "An ageing and stooped woman, holding together a thin shawl with one hand, looks into a future that is devoid of hope. Her expression shows strength, compassion, and helplessness at the same time. Her other arm and hand seem to ward off an uncertain fate. Details of features and shawl become blurred, melting into the mists of the past, and vague imagery of birds and flowers on the shawl seem to suggest the potters' field in which she will be buried." Ms. Greene continued, "It is our hope that this monument will serve to teach and remind viewers about the time in Ulster County, and the rest of the nation, during which there were no safety nets at all for the poor and disenfranchised - from the elderly to infants."

Located nearby, is the gravestone of Rebekah Maclang Brower which includes the poem "Who'll Weep For Me?" referring to the age-old question of who will remember a person after they have passed. It is believed that Rebekah entered the Poorhouse due to insanity, however, she is representative of the approximately 2,500 people who resided there over the years, including orphaned children, the destitute, the mentally ill or other castoffs.

The Poorhouse Memorial Committee needs to raise an additional $10,000 to complete the statue and any additional funds will be used to compensate the artist and support programs for those in need today. You can follow the progress of the project on Facebook at "Ulster County Poorhouse Memorial Project" and donations can be sent to the United Way of Ulster County - "UC United Way/Poorhouse Memorial," 450 Albany Avenue, Kingston, NY 12401.

Frost Valley Offers New "Gap-year in Mexico" Program – A chance for college-aged adults to volunteer abroad and help children

CLARYVILLE - In partnership with YMCA Camp Camohmila in the town of Tepoztlán, Mexico, Frost Valley YMCA has developed "Gap Year in Mexico," a structured program that gives young men and women between the ages of 18 and 22 from the US the chance to volunteer abroad and provide Mexican children with a safe place to learn and play, from August 27 to December 16, 2016.

Participants in the Gap Year in Mexico program will spend a week at Frost Valley YMCA preparing for a four-month stay in Tepotzlán. Once there, they'll assist teachers during the school day by providing extra help and classroom management. In the afternoons, gap-year participants run various recreational activities, helping children to learn, grow, and thrive. In their four months abroad, these young adults experience new perspectives, gain independence, become more responsible, and a develop a sense of cultural worldliness. Financial assistance is available for those who meet require-

"This is an exciting program that can change the lives of children in need, while providing opportunities for steward-ship, personal growth, and travel to young adults here in the US," says Zach Eigenbrodt, head of the program. "It's amazing to see the the work that YMCA Mexico has already done to help children, and we are thrilled to be able to team up with such a caring group of individuals. This is truly a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity for college-aged adults."

Frost Valley YMCA is a values-driven organization that fosters youth development, healthy living, and social responsibility through outdoor educational and recreational programs for all. Located in the heart of the Catskill Mountains, Frost Valley provides year-round access to nature and fun through programs such as summer camp, adventure trips, farm camp, equestrian programs, group and family retreats, school trips, teambuilding and more. Frost Valley is guided in this pursuit by its core values which serve as pathways for guests as they bond with nature and each other: Caring, Community, Diversity, Honesty, Inclusiveness, Respect, Responsibility, and Stewardship.
