A tribute to the memory of all of the Townsman ladies that we have lost and loved so much... Peggy DeWire, Avril Pappa, Joan Hall and Polly Hill.

Trout Lily (a/k/a Dog Tooth Violet; Adder's Tongue

It's that time of year that I like to head out in the back woods with my camera and look for pretty little things that I will enjoy looking at next winter, that will remind me of how beautifully blessed we are this time of the year. So with my camera ready to go, it wasn'tbut a few steps into the woods when I saw one of the prettiest little spring flowers that you may spot this time of the year, a Yellow Dog Tooth Violet, (referring to the toothlike shape of the white underground bulb) a/k/a Adder's Tongue, (if you don't like snakes, not an appealing name for such a pretty flower) but most commonly known in this area as a Trout Lily, which is a more suitable name since the flower is not a violet. The name Trout Lily arises because of the appearance of its gray-green leaves mottled with brown, which allegedly resemble the coloring of a brook trout.

The Trout Lily is a herbaceous flowering plant in the family Liliaceae, that is one of our most common spring wildflowers.

A pair of brownish-mottled leaves sheath the base of a stalk that bears a solitary, nodding flower, yellow inside, bronzy outside. This colony-forming perennial sends up two, 3-6 inch, elliptic, mottled leaves and a slightly taller stalk that bears the single, nodding, yellow flower. Petals and sepals are bent backwards exposing six brown stamens. Single-leaved, non-flowering plants also occur. They are either too young or too crowded to flower.

Trout lilies produce large colonies of plants if they are left undisturbed for several decades. There have been trout lily colonies that are said to be 300 years old! Their habitat include moist to mesic deciduous woodlands and gentle slopes in wooded areas. An abundance of this plant is an indicator that a woodland has not been subjected to the plow or bulldozed over.

The blooming period occurs during mid-spring and lasts about 2 weeks. Each fertilized flower is replaced by a 3-chambered seed capsule that is ovoid and about 1/2" long. Each chamber of the seed capsule contains 2 rows of flattened seeds. The root system consists of a corm that is several inches below the surface of the ground; this corm produces fibrous roots at its base and occasionally sends out underground stolons that can form new plants a few inches away from the mother plant.

The flowers are primarily pollinated by bees, including honeybees and bumblebees, and also by ants. After a seed is planted, it will take up to seven years to make a mature plant. Only plants that have two leaves will flower.

The mature plant has two mottled basal leaves, and a small lily nodding from the top of a leafless stem. The lily opens each morning and closes each night, but during the middle of a bright day the petals open so far that they are all curved backwards.

If you are thinking about including a Trout Lily or two in your garden, a few pointers are that they like dappled sunlight during the spring, soil that is moist or has a moderate amount of water, and a rich loamy soil with abundant leaf mold. Shadier conditions are tolerated later in the year. The foliage withers away during the summer. It takes several years for a new plant to fully develop and bloom. Corms can be transplanted successfully during the fall, while the establishment of new plants from seeds is difficult and slow.

This tiny little lily is only six to ten inches tall, but definitely stands out. When you have a camera in hand and want to take some woodsy pictures, you can almost hear a Trout Lily call "Come and take my picture!"

Household Hints

Remove candle wax

Candles are great for creating a romantic mood, but the mood can quickly sour if you wind up getting melted candle wax on your fine wood furniture. To remove it, first soften the wax using a blow-dryer on its hottest setting and blot up as much as you can with paper towels. Then remove what's left by rubbing with a cloth soaked in a solution made of equal parts white vinegar and water. Wipe clean with a soft, absorbent cloth.

Extinction - Mysterious Book Report No. 98 by John Dwaine McKenna Ever heard about something called the Singularity? It's an interesting noun with a couple of different meanings. First, according to my Oxford English Language Dictionary, there's the general definition: The state or condition of being singular. Then there's the math & physics usage: The point at which something becomes infinite. The third, and for our purposes the most interesting definition, is capitalized. The Singularity: A point in the future, estimated to be around 2030, beyond which overwhelming technical changes . . . especially the development of superhuman intelligence . . . make reliable predictions impossible. In other words, that's the point in time when computers will become self-aware, or able to think for themselves. And once that happens, the question becomes: Will artificial intelligence see the human race as friend or foe? That's the gut-wrenching dilemma author Mark Alpert hands us in his outstanding new techno-thriller, Extinction, (Thomas Dunne Books, St. Martin's Press, $25.99, 373 pages, ISBN 978-1-250-02134-2). In it, a clandestine unit of the Chinese secret (Thomas Dunne Books, St. Martin's Press, $25.99, 373 pages, ISBN 978-1-250-02134-2). In it, a clandestine unit of the Chinese secret police have developed a unique and ultimate form of artificial intelligence using licensed American technology implanted in human brains. Unfortunately for the human subjects, they're lobotomized first. Their brains are then networked together using some of the hardware from America, thus creating an ever-larger group of linked minds whose knowledge and intelligence increase exponentially with the addition of each new "module" as the lobotomized humans are now called. When the group is plugged into the Chinese security system and the World Wide Web . . . it becomes self-aware . . . and the first thing it decides to do is eliminate all of the human race. At the same time, we meet Jim Pierce, a former Army Special Forces soldier and CIA spy. He's an amputee and bio-engineer whose occupation is building artificial arms and legs for wounded soldiers. He's drawn into the conflict when an agent for the network tries to kill him. That's because his estranged daughter, a world-class computer hacker, is a target of Supreme Harmony, the network's name for itself, because she has stolen computer files exposing them. Supreme Harmony incorporates any and all into the network, where their knowledge becomes shared by all . . . giving each module the abilities formerly possessed by that individual. The action is non-stop and it's anyone's guess which side will prevail. This one is downright scary. And it's made all the more so because it's grounded in believable science and technology that's available right now or is in the process of development. Mr. Alpert is being hailed by some as the "heir to Michael Crichton," the one who has his finger on the pulse of whatever is coming next and making it seem as though it's already here. Extinction is one helluva thrill ride using cutting edge science. I loved it.

Are you loving your local library yet? They have books, CD's, DVD's, games and eBooks as well as many free services. All are there for your benefit. But you'll have to get off the La-Z-Boy and go. You'll be glad you did . . . because "One good reader is worth a thousand boneheads," as H.L. Mencken said.

Hello and thank-yous to all my new bff's who've liked me of Facebook and Twitter. They'll get the Mysterious Book Report the same day that the newspaper comes out, but at 12:01 am. That way they can read the new review first thing in the morning, or last thing at night if they stay up late. They'll also get first dibs on the BS and Donkey Dust blogs, if and when we write them. You can too, by checking out John Dwaine McKenna on Facebook or Twitter. Our web addresses are: johndwainemckenna.com And rhyolitepress.com

You can see all of the MBRs as well as booklists, best books of the year, bios and news. You can leave comments or ask questions. Give us a shout, we'd love to hear from you. And, you can do all of the above the traditional way at P.O. Box 2406, Colorado Springs, CO 80901. Any way is a good way. We'll see you next week with a totally new review. --JDM

Rondout Valley Organics CSA is Eight Years Old and Growing!

Looking for an easy way to get the best local foods while simultaneously supporting agriculture in your Valley? Rondout Valley Organics CSA is the perfect answer.

What is a CSA you ask? It stands for Community Supported Agriculture, a model of small farm production marketing in which consumers invest in their local farms, sharing in both the bounty and the challenges of growing food. Members join a CSA by paying at the start of the season for a "share" in the farm, helping to fund the farmer's startup expenses like seed purchases, marketing, etc. The farmer gets some much-needed cash to get going and members then enjoy a weekly bag of produce throughout the season, whatever is available at any given week. Most CSAs produce vegetables, much of this organic, and many offer additional products from their own or neighboring farms, such as fruits, meats, honey, flowers, etc. Members often enjoy the opportunity to share in the farmwork, volunteering their time to help with harvest, cultivation, order packing, etc. Sometimes there is a discounted membership when members commit to volunteer hours.

Rondout Valley Organics CSA has refined this traditional model into a more member-friendly collaboration. Enrollment cost is still only $300.00. This includes an annual $50.00 nonrefundable membership fee that represents the consumer's basic commitment and helps to fund the farmer's startup costs. The remaining $250.00 funds the member's purchasing account for the season.

Working with a number of farms in the Rondout Valley and eastern Sullivan County, RVO offers a large variety of products. Each week, the participating farmers post their available items and members order what they want. Their accounts are charged after each weekly order. Harvests are done on Wednesdays and members begin picking up their bags on Thursday mornings. RVO offers a number of convenient pickup locations all throughout the Rondout Valley as well as in Mountaindale in Sullivan County.

This year's season began in mid-April, with a variety of veggies, meats, cheeses and other goodies. Rusty Plough, a NOFA-NY Certified Organic farm in Ulster Heights, offers greens and scallions overwintered in their new high tunnel. Acorn Hill Farm in Walker Valley creates delicious cheeses at their micro-creamery, using milk from their own organically raised and managed dairy goats. It is a NOFA-NY Farmers' Pledge farm, following organic and sustainable practices in their farming and cheesemaking. Movable Beast Farm in Accord raises pastured beef and offers a variety of cuts, from hearts & livers to filet mignon. Their guiding philosophy is to produce food that is natural, safe, nourishing and delicious, to respect and honor the creatures under their care, and to heal and enrich the land. Pork is available from Majestic Farm in Mountaindale, where all of their animals are sustainably raised outside in woods and pasture, resulting in healthy, happy meat.

Slow Roots Farm in Kingston offers overwintered potatoes, helping to make room in their root cellar for this year's produce. On land that has been farmed for hundreds of years, organically for the last twelve of them, Slow Roots Farm is creating a healthy, sustainable model for living and working on the land. Little Egg Farm in Stone Ridge offers its yummy eggs, from pasture-raised hens fed organic grains from Lightning Tree Farm in Millbrook. Nicci Cagan from Twin Goats, a tireless advocate for healthy food and sustainable agriculture, mixes lovely Celtic Sea Salt blends to complement so many of the local products.

A colfaboration between Rusty Plough Farm and Farm & Granary, Rondout Valley Organics began in 2006 with a vision of more flexibility and choice for their members. The following year they were joined by August Farm, also in Ulster Heights. Since then, RVO has continued to collaborate with area growers and producers, expanding its offerings while supporting the growth of small farms in the area. Logistical and technical support comes from www.farmtocity.org, which facilitates easy online ordering and data collection. Memberships are still available for the 2013 season.

Unique field trips highlight SUNY Ulster Sustainable Building Course

From the early 1930's through the modern day era, McKenna gives readers a personal glimpse of the lives that were affected by New York City's relentless quest to provide water for its residents, while changing the lives of thousands of people who once lived in the region of the Neversink and Rondout Reservoirs. The Olive Jar - Carol LaMonda Yard Sales

A sure sign of spring is really a SIGN, a YARD SALE sign. Spring is when we venture out of our cozy little cubbies dragging our unwanted or unloved excess to the lawn. It is when we decide that that one green wine glass and mismatched bowl might bring in a nickel or two.

There are two very large yard sales coming up in Olive. The Olive Democrats are having a two-day, May 10 and 11, event on Route 28 in front of the Boiceville Inn. Then on Memorial Day weekend, May 24 and the Reservoir Methodist Church has its huge yard and rummage sale in Shokan.

Additionally, there are patches of wares and home-made signs dotting the neighborhoods.

I think Yard Sales are a typically American event. Coming back from Spain where apartments outnumber houses, a similar phenomenon is the flea market or outdoor market. Seems like everyone needs to get rid of Actually, yard sale goods are a way of recycling, re-using, and refreshing our belongings. I am sure that I buy more than I sell at yard sales. Some of my treasures are cast-offs of some neighbor. Most purchases become next year's yard sale wares.

Besides, it gets us out of the house and into the outdoors. Now that the weather has changed for the better, the Reservoir Walkway is a parade of walkers, bikers, roller bladers, and strollers. Aren't we lucky to be able to walk, carefully avoiding the Canada Goose poop, and look out at the amazing vista of water and reflecting mountains?

Toil and Trouble: New York City's Quest for Water and the Rondout-Neversink Story

An opening reception for the new exhibition Toil

Join Us to Honor Them.

and Trouble: New York City's Quest for Water and the Rondout-Neversink featuring Story, keynote speaker Robert F. Kennedy Jr., will take place on Wednesday, May 22, 4 p.m. at the Time and Valleys Museum, 332 Main Street, Grahamsville, NY. Other speakers include Alan Rosa, Catskill Watershed Corporation and Carter Η. Strickland, Jr.

Commissioner, NYC Department of Environmental Protection. The reception will also include participation from the Tri-Valley School District and local area youth groups.

This new interactive exhibition spans the very beginnings of New York City history through the Clean Water Act and beyond. It tells the story of NYC's Water Supply System, with a special concentration on the Rondout and Neversink reservoirs and "The Takings" - the emotional story of local residents who were forced to sell their land to New York City for the building of the water system. Family members who lived in the communities where the reservoirs now stand are expected to attend the reception.

Volunteers prepare exhibits

Besides focusing on the different systems and how they work together, also included is "Would You Drink This Water?" illustrating the type of contaminants in early NYC water, "How Would You Feel?" delving into the lands taken and how local lives changed, and "Those Who Did the Dirty Work" about the men who built the tunnels and reservoirs.

Through photographs, artifacts, video, audio, interactive computer programs and hands on activities, visitors will be immersed in the fascinating story of the water system's development. They will "Spin the Wheel" of dirty water, listen to lost town residents talk about being forced to move from their homes, touch rocks dug from hundreds of feet below the earth, play a "Beat the Clock" game and complete an aqueduct puzzle. They will even build their own dam (including sinking and covering caissons) and dig a real tunnel!

Designed to entertain and enlighten visitors of all ages and abilities, the exhibition is perfect for school classes, youth organizations and adult groups seeking to learn more about the water system and its impact on the local area. For more information or to book a group tour, please call the Museum at 845 985-7700 or email info@timeandthevalleysmuseum.org.

Located at 332 Main Street in Grahamsville (St. Rt. 55), starting on May 23rd, the Museum will be open Thursday to Sunday, noon to 4 p.m. through Labor Day, and September and October weekends from noon to 4 p.m. Suggested donation for adults is $5, Children under 16 $2, and children under six are free. With THREE FLOORS of exhibitions, the Museum also has a Local History Resource Center (open Thursday and Sundays, 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.) and Museum Shop with local history and environmental publications, handcrafted artwork and gifts by local craftspeople, old fashioned toys and other unique items. Kid Stuff, our free program for kids ages 6-12 (and their parents, too), is full of exciting activities in May. We'll be celebrating Spring in a variety of ways. All programs are Saturday mornings from 10:30 am noon.

On May 11, naturalist Betty Boomer will bring bring and take back a selection of wonderful wild pond bugs and perhaps one or two other beasties as well as we learn about pond life. Betty travels all around the area bringing nature programs to kids of all ages. We are very lucky to have her with us today.

On May 18, singer songwriter Elly Wininger returns with Elly Wininger Ticket to Ride! Hop on the music and explore the world! Through listening games, movement, music, and hands-on crafts we'll find out how much we are the same, and the very cool ways in which we are different. We'll make our own instruments from every day materials, and use them to play a song or two as well.

May 25th brings us Andes poet Sharon Ruetnik with whom we'll take a poetic look at spring and come up with some cool poems to celebrate.

June comes along with more fun programming and in July and August we're all looking forward to a very special series of Circus Arts Magic workshops with with Hana Roth Seavey five weeks of magicianship, juggling, stilt-walking, unicycling, and circus skits

IS THERE A LACK OF COMMUNICA-TION BETWEEN TRI-VALLEY CENTRAL SCHOOL AND TAX PAYERS?

On Thursday, May 2, 2013,1, and I assume most local taxpayers, received a letter from Tri-Valley Central School District that they want about $5,742,000.00 for a Capital Improvements Project on the ballot along with and in addition to the proposed school budget.

Seeing this for the first time (except for an announcement at the monthly fireman's meeting), it seems to be an awful lot of money.

According to the school's brochure, the capital project includes a redesign of the bus loop, student drop off area, reconstruction and expansion of the main parking lot, and track and field event reconstruction. It is also for Exterior Building replacing and HVAC System replacement.

When was this $5,742,000.00 Capital

Levon Helm Memorial Boulevard

Asemblymember Kevin Cahill (D - Ulster, Dutchess) announced that legislation to designate New York State Route 375 as "Levon Helm Memorial Boulevard" passed the Assembly unanimously. The road will span from the intersection of New York State Route 28 in West Hurley to the intersection of New York State Route 212 in Woodstock.

"Levon Helm was a true inspiration to not only millions of fans but our community," Cahill said. "His Rambles became a mainstay in the town of Woodstock bringing back old soulful music worth listening to in a welcoming venue he created."

Levon Helm Studios, opened in 1975, brought legendary musicians to our area including Muddy Waters, Bob Dylan, Emmylou Harris, Elvis Costello, Phil Lesh, Kris Kristofferson, The Black Crows, and many others. With his Midnight Rambles he was able to return the music culture of Woodstock to the levels for which it was once known.

"In a world that often compromised integrity Levon Helm cultivated the tradition of professionalism with a deep respect for his craft and remained refreshingly genuine throughout his life," said Cahill. "Many of those around Levon have dedicated their lives to keep his memory and his great spirit alive. I am honored to be able to help keep a piece of him in town forever.

Improvements Project first presented - and to whom was it presented?

I can assume that this project was announced at a Board of Education meeting to parents and teachers. But what about taxpayers who do not attend school board meetings, senior citizens and snowbirds who just returned from Florida?

In these difficult economic times, I think the rest of us should have had a greater opportunity to discuss the necessity of such additional major expenditure and the amount to be bonded - before it appears on the ballot.

Respectfully,

SUNY Ulster Math Team Places High in Community College State Math Test

With the college's largest participation of 40 students, SUNY Ulster's Math Team placed fourth in the New York State Mathema-tics Association of Two Year Colleges (NYSMATYC) statewide test.

The college finished in the top 90th percentile of the 33 two-year colleges in the 2012-2013 state competition. Highest scorers were: first, Gregory Hedlund; second, Patrick Buchalski and Alexi Samolsky; third, John Campbell and Amy Rogers; fourth, Andrew Hunt and Matthew Mancsco; fifth, John Dolan and Matt Price; sixth place, Peter Vellos, Courtney Sheeley, Travis Jeffrey, David Weddle and Tabetha Kennedy.

"In a competition like this it's not about winning or what place you rank but about students taking time from their busy schedules for academic pursuit outside of the classroom to learn about, think about and have fun with mathematics," said SUNY Ulster Math Professor Jules Albertini. "We had more students that ever participate and this is a testament to the support of our department and beyond from the Ulster Community College Foundation Office, administration, the entire faculty and staff across campus."

A Pairing of Art and Healing
The Ellenville Regional Hospital Foundation will be hosting an event to highlight the value of art in healing.

Featuring Eflenville sculptor Matt Pozorski and acclaimed harp musician Victoria Drake, the event will take place on Saturday, June 1, 2013 from 4:00 to 7:00pm at the home of Robert Osgood in Napanoch, NY.

Matt Pozorski, who has created a unique Giving Tree installed in the lobby of Ellenville Regional Hospital, is also known for his Boy with a Boot sculpture in Liberty Square, Ellenville. Since 2004, he has been carving, from wood, large human forms, resembling an individual in need - usually a cancer patient. The carvings also provoke a protective or healing person now combined with the patient.

Harpist Victoria Drake is an active Freelancer in the New York area, performing with such prestigious music organizations as the American Symphony Orchestra, the New York City Ballet, and the Bard Music Festival. She has four solo recordings and numerous recording with other orchestras. Her resume includes both Broadway and movie credits.

Tickets are priced at $100, which includes hors d'oeuvres, wine, beer and soda, with the proceeds benefiting the Ellenville Regional Hospital Foundation.

Birds on a Wire

A Texas family's fight to stave off fore-closure during the Dust Bowl has shocking resonance with the national movement to save our communities from the threat of fracking. The Dust Bowl was the greatest ecological disaster of the 20th century and two thirds of the inhabitants stayed on their farms. Birds on a Wire follows the untold journey of a Jewish family as they experience the local bank's lies, infidelity as brothers fight for the same woman, and finally their acceptance of each other.

The Rositzky family worked hard, followed all the rules and because of their misguided treatment of the land helped create the Dust Bowl. The Rositzky farm comes to life in the historic Byrdcliffe Theatre for only four performances June 6th - 9th before it starts its run at the Sanctuary Arts Initiative 410 W. 40th St. New York, NY.

VOICETheatre is partnering with New Yorkers Against Fracking and Catskill Mountainkeeper to raise awareness and funds for the fight against fracking on a local level. A benefit performance and reception for Catskill Mountainkeeper will take place at the June 6th production, including wine, hors d'oeuvres, and a presentation conducted by Kathleen Nolan, High Peaks Regional Director, Catskill Mountainkeeper

By examining past ecological trans-gressions and the emotional and economic effects on the Rositzky family, Birds on a Wire raises awareness of the ramifications of what happens to families, communities and countries when we harm the earth.

VOICETheatre has toured four continents with ground-breaking productions bringing political activism and disparate groups together in such performances as PUSHING THROUGH, the first play that brought Palestinians and Israelis on the same stage in 1988, LA MAMA, US National tour, UK and Scotland.

For Birds on a Wire, Broadway veteran Dean Nolen, original Broadway cast MAMMA MÍA! joins Innovative Theatre Award Nominee for Featured Role, Jessica Crandall, along with actors Jordan Feltner, John Gazzale, Megan Bones and Michael Mills.

Producing Company, VOICETheatre, www.voicetheatre.org. Birds on a Wire, written & directed by Shauna Kanter. Byrdcliffe Theatre, is located at 380 Upper Byrdcliffe Road, Woodstock, NY. The dates of the performances are June 6th - 9th; Thursday-Saturday 8:00pm, Sunday 2:00pm

For Tickets/Reservations: 845-679-0154; $22 tickets The June 6th performance will be for the benefit of Catskill Mountainkeeper: tickets for this performance are $35.

Valley Journey

Even more exciting is that this year's walk brought out 35 walkers, and between The Journey For Sight pledges and Tag Day bucket donations, we brought in over $5000 for our charity account. This means that The Tri-Valley Lions will be able to donate even more this year to the organizations we support, like Guiding Eyes for the Blind, Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation, local church food pantries, local families suffering catastrophic events, eye tests and glasses for children that cannot afford such due to lack of health insurance, and a whole host of other worthy causes that are within The Tri-Valley Lions mission. Donald TerBush, who we lost on July 16, 2012, and who was the first President and founder of eight time

President, and for whom this year's walk was dedicated to, would be proud.

Thanks to the Walkers, Volunteers, those that pledged for the Walk, those that stopped at the Tag Day stops and dropped donations into our buckets, to Meigan Dean of Cannie D's for once again supplying us with food & drink for our annual event, and to the many non-member Lions who walked with us and made great contibutions to this year's Walk.

Wishing you all a happy and safe summer, and may life be as good to you as you have been to our Lion's group all these years!

Thanks again for your generous support.

Two Native Sons Return to Cragsmoor to Mount Gala Fundraiser for CHS

David Howell and Jay Kerr, childhood buddies who shared many adventures growing up together on the mountain, are pooling their diverse talents with those of Jay's wife, Lynne, to create a unique performance that will raise money to complete the restoration of the Cragsmoor Historical Society building.

WINE, WOMAN, AND SONG will be presented at the Society on Saturday, May 18. This gala of wine with song and song with wine originated in the Cabaret at Fort Salem Theater, in Salem, NY, and played to full houses in Salem and in Walpole, N.H. Doors open at 4:30 and the performance begins at 5:00. In this pairing of fine wines with fine music, sommelier of sorts David is joined by Jay and Lynn Kerr, who blend their acclaimed cabaret performance with the wines he presents. Nonalcoholic beverages will also be served.

David and Jay's parents were long-term friends in Cragsmoor. While David was a year-round resident, Jay and his family came on weekends and summer vacations. Together they were part of the collection of young folks who roamed the mountaintop with family picnics on the cliffs around Lake Maratanza, swimming activities at the public pool, various events at the Cragsmoor Inn, numerous activities associated with the Barnstormer's Theater, nature walks to Diana's Bath and other activities which may not be fit to print. David and Jay's friendship was cemented after each had graduated from college when, together in one furious weekend, they cleaned chimneys to earn money for David's wedding, in which Jay was part of the wedding party. In fact, they claim that anything they accomplished as adults occurred in spite of their youthful collaborations. It is their historical affection for the grape, first identified in Cragsmoor, that brings their association full circle in this upcoming musical tribute to their favorite libations.

David went on to pursue a career in science with an undergraduate degree from Colgate University and advanced degrees from the University of California. Dr. Howell is a retired geologist with the United States Geological Survey and professor of Earth Sciences at Stanford University. His research at the USGS involved studies on the growth and shaping of continents, the world-wide distribution of oil and gas, the impact of crowding on the Pacific Rim and the role of art in communicating science. In addition to Stanford, he has taught at the University of Paris, Nanjing University and the University of Otago in New Zealand

Howell is also the co-author, with his longtime colleague Jonathan Swinchatt, of The Winemaker's Dance, Exploring Terroir in the Napa Valley, published by UCB Press. In reviewing the book, Rod Smith, a columnist for Wine and Spirits magazine, wrote: "Engaging, lucid, substantive, with colorful characters, brand new theories, and the momentum of a detective story ... hard to put down ... a fascinating trip to the heart of Napa Valley terroir." Howell's popular wine course at Stanford regularly enjoyed full enrollment.

Jay, on the other hand, directed his talents to music and the theater and brings a long and diverse professional career to the performance. He has served on the staff or adjunct faculty of the Writers Workshop, Princeton University Triangle Club; California State University, Northridge; HB Studio, New York; West Side YMCA Theater Arts Program, NYC, and Estelle Harman Actors Workshop, Hollywood. He has also served as a consultant/coach to such luminaries as Phil Silvers (in A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum) and Richard Dreyfus, as well as an accompanist, coach or instructor to Ina Balin, Dorothy Collins, Sandy Dennis and Joanne Woodward, among many others. His extensive credits as a composer/lyricist include works that have been performed in theaters from Hollywood to New York City. Kerr is currently owner/director of the Fort Salem Theater in Salem, NY, which showcases Broadway, television, film and international cabaret performers.

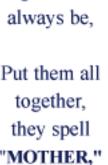

Lynne Kerr's voice has been compared to a mellow Merlot (favorably). Her cabaret shows, Songs My Husband Wrote and More Songs My Husband Wrote, have been sold-out performances in Manhattan and New England. This program will include songs such as "The Days of Wine and Roses," "You Go to My Head," and "The Best Is Yet to Come."

This wine-tasting musical gala will be held in the Cragsmoor Historical Society 349 Cragsmoor Road, Cragsmoor, NY 12420. Seating is limited and reservations are encouraged. Proceeds from this event, with tickets at $40 per person and $75 per couple, will contribute to the final stages of restoring the building to its 1908 architectural style.

The historic Cragsmoor art colony is located on top of the Shawangunk Ridge off Route 52 between Pine Bush and Ellenville. It is surrounded by thousands of acres of protected land with hiking trails, waterfalls, lakes and expansive views. A day's outing, culminating with this wine and music event, could be an ideal way to welcome springtime on the mountain.

SUNY Ulster Dedicates Math Tutoring Center in Honor of Gary and Janaki Patrik

SUNY Ulster has dedicated its math tutoring center in honor of Gary and Janaki Patrik, in recognition of their outstanding generosity to the Ulster Community College Foundation, Inc. in support of scholarships and program enhancements for the Department of Mathematics.

Located in the Algonquin Building on the Stone Ridge Campus, the Gary and Janaki Patrik Math Center offers a special learning opportunity provided by SUNY Ulster professors and tutors. It is a room alive with activity as students seek to improve their math skills.

The Gary and Janaki Patrik Math Center was dedicated at ceremonies on April 25 with remarks by SUNY Ulster President Donald C. Katt; Richard Anthony, chair of the Ulster Community College Foundation, Inc.; and Marianne Collins, executive director of the Ulster Community College Foundation, Inc.

Gary Patrik retired as the Chief Actuary of Swiss Reinsurance of America and is a life-long trumpet player currently participating in SUNY Ulster's Community Band, Jazz Ensemble and Wind Ensemble. While Janaki Patrik earned her degrees in multiple languages, she later pursued a path in the arts, mainly in the North Indian classical dance form known as Kathak. She is also an accomplished flutist and continues to perform internationally.

Despite their education at nationally prestigious universities, the Patriks of Kingston are believers in the power of public higher education and community colleges in particular, as they provide access and opportunities to a broad spectrum of students. The Patriks also are generous supporters of SUNY Ulster's music students and music program, and benefactors to SUNY New Paltz.

Schneiderman: Nomination A Good First Step, But Struggling Homeowners Cannot Afford To Wait For The Senate-President Should Appoint New Acting Director In Interim

Attorney General Eric T. Schneiderman today applauded President Obama for nominating Mel Watt as the permanent head of Federal Housing and Finance Agency (FHFA), the agency that oversees Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, but called on him to take immediate action to replace acting FHFA Director Edward DeMarco with a new acting director who will allow principal relief for struggling homeowners.

"I applaud the President for finally moving to nominate a permanent head of the Federal Housing Finance Agency," said Attorney General Schneiderman. "As I have consistently said, the FHFA's refusal to allow principal write-downs that would result in more loan modifications is a direct impediment to our economic recovery and stands in way of our efforts to provide much needed assistance to homeowners in New York and across the country. This nomination is a good first step, but struggling homeowners cannot afford to wait for the Senate to complete the confirmation process. The President should use his legal authority to replace Edward DeMarco with a new acting director who will start the effort to put FHFA on the side of working families immediately."

Every day that passes, thousands of American homeowners are at greater risk of entering foreclosures because Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac have refused to allow principal write-downs for underwater mortgages under DeMarco's leadership. According to the Mortgage Bankers Association, every three months, 250,000 new families enter into foreclosure. Roughly 60 percent of all mortgages in the United States are owned by Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac.

Last month, Attorney General Schneiderman led a multi-state coalition of state Attorneys General who wrote the President and Congressional leaders urging swift action to replace DeMarco with a new FHFA director.

Principal write-downs are a central component of the national settlement, and continue to bring meaningful relief to distressed borrowers, spurring our nation's economic recovery. Principal reduction is a form of loan forgiveness that would help "underwater" borrowers whose mortgages are worth more than their homes.

The FHFA's continued position that principal forgiveness conflicts with its goal of asset preservation is "not supported by reality," the attorneys general assert in the letter. The agency's current policy actually reduces the value of its holdings portfolio. It is far more profitable for any financial institution to hold a portfolio of performing $200,000 mortgages that lets families keep their homes than a portfolio of non-performing $250,000 mortgages headed toward default.

Last year, Attorney General Schneiderman led the negotiation of a National Mortgage Settlement under which the five largest mortgage servicers have agreed to a $25 billion penalty under a joint state-national settlement structure. A minimum of $17 billion goes directly to borrowers nationally through a series of homeowner relief efforts, including principal reduction. Servicers have also committed $3 billion to an underwater mortgage refinancing program for homeowners whose mortgages are worth more than the value of their homes.

To date, 21,535 New York homeowners have received $1.8 billion in assistance, including $1.2 billion in principal reductions on 1st and 2nd mortgages and mortgage refinances that lower interest rates on their loans.

The National Mortgage Settlement is the largest joint state-federal settlement in history and it is the result of a massive civil law enforcement investigation and initiative by state attorneys general, state banking regulators, and nearly a dozen federal agencies. The agreement was with the nation's five largest servicers: Bank of America Corporation, JPMorgan Chase & Co., Wells Fargo & Company, Citigroup, Inc., and Ally Financial, Inc. (formerly GMAC). Collectively, the five banks service nearly 60 percent of the nation's mortgages.

Using a portion of New York's share of the National Mortgage Settlement, in June 2012, Attorney General Schneiderman announced the launch of the Homeowner Protection Program, his office's commitment of $60 million over three years to fund housing counseling and legal services for struggling New York homeowners. Throughout this program, 35 legal services organizations and 59 housing counseling agencies statewide will receive funding to provide free foreclosure prevention services. By supporting the work of direct service providers who specialize in delivery of assistance to at-risk homeowners affected by foreclosures, this effort will minimize homeowner displacement and foster the stabilization of neighborhoods across the state for the benefit of the public and the State as a whole.

UC Executive Hein Proclaims May Older Americans Month in Ulster County

In honor of Ulster County 's many incredible seniors, County Executive Mike Hein is proclaiming May Older Americans Month. Like the rest of our country, Ulster County will be celebrating older Americans in many ways this month.

According to County Executive Hein, "While the Ulster County Office for the Aging provides services, support, and resources to older adults year round, Older Americans Month is a great opportunity to show appreciation and support to our seniors as they continue to enrich and strengthen our lives. It is also the perfect time to invite seniors we know in our families and in our community to share their wisdom and experiences with us. The shared histories, diverse experiences, and wealth of knowledge of our older residents are a tremendous asset and this is a great time of year to focus on it."

Each year the County Executive and the Ulster County Office for the Aging invite the public to nominate Ulster County Seniors of the Year. This year, Mr. Edwin M. Ford from Kingston and Mrs. Marion Dumond from Ellenville are receiving this special award. They will be honored on May 7 by the New York State Office for the Aging in Albany and on May 15 by Ulster County Executive Michael P. Hein at the Senior Forum.

During the month of May, the Ulster County Office for the Aging, located at the Business Resource Center on Ulster Avenue in Kingston, is hosting a "Month-Long Coffee Hour" offering complimentary cups of decaf coffee to all seniors who stop by the Office.

The County Executive and the Office for the Aging are also honoring seniors this month by inviting 1st through 5th grade students of the Kingston Consolidated School district to participate in a contest celebrating seniors of Ulster County as seen through a child's eye. 1st and 2nd graders are drawing pictures of "Who is a Senior Citizen" and 3rd, 4th and 5th graders are writing a story describing "Who is a Senior Citizen." Entries are to be submitted to the Ulster County Office for the Aging at 1003 Development Court, Kingston 12401 by May 20, 2013. Stories will be published in the Senior Gazette and all submissions will be showcased in Ulster County in June.

Older Americans Month was established in April of 1963 by President John F. Kennedy. At that time, only 17 million living Americans had reached their 65th birthdays and about a third lived in poverty. Today there are many resources available to older Americans. To help support Ulster County's senior citizens, contact the Ulster County Office for the Aging at 340-3456 to learn about volunteer opportunities with programs that help seniors to improve health literacy, increase access to quality health services, deliver food and nutrition services, provide financial counseling, sponsor social and civic activities, and more.

Entergy Shareholders To Take Up DiNapoli Proposal On Nuclear Power Safety- State Comptroller Pushes Owner of Indian Point to Move Toward Safer Storage of Nuclear Waste

New York State Comptroller Thomas P. DiNapoli today will raise concerns with the storage of nuclear fuel at Entergy Inc.'s annual shareholder meeting in Little Rock, Ark. DiNapoli's shareholder proposal calls for the company to implement a policy to minimize the amount of nuclear waste it stores in spent fuel pools and transfer that waste into dry cask storage.

"Accidents or sabotage of nuclear waste could have devastating effects on human health and our environment. Entergy should mitigate its risks and move toward safer storage of its spent nuclear fuel," DiNapoli said. "The disaster at Fukushima laid bare the risks associated with nuclear power. Management should support any effort that seeks to lower risk and protect shareholder value."

Dry-cask storage is a process that allows spent nuclear fuel that has already been cooled in a spent fuel pool for a period of time to be surrounded by inert gas in a steel container known as a cask. These cylinders provide several potential safety and security advantages over pool storage, according to a report by the National Academy of Sciences. Additionally, the Union of Concerned Scientists recommends the transfer of spent nuclear fuel from storage pools into dry casks once it has cooled.

DiNapoli's resolution states:

THEREFORE, be it resolved that shareholders request that Entergy's Board of Directors adopt and implement a policy to better manage the dangers that might arise from an accident or sabotage by minimizing the storage of waste in spent fuel pools and transferring such waste at the earliest safe time into dry cask storage, and report to shareholders on progress quarterly, at reasonable expense and excluding proprietary or confidential information.

A report compiled by the Sustainable Investments Institute cites several factors for why companies have not adequately dealt with long-term storage solutions for spent fuel, including uncertainty about a national storage solution and a desire to minimize short-term costs.

DiNapoli's proposal, according to the report, "... leaves Entergy the flexibility to report back to shareholders on alternative solutions for long-term storage with a rationale on the merits of cost and safety, and it doesn't pigeonhole Entergy into any one solution or timeline, even though it suggests early transfer to dry cask facilities as the optimal solution."

Entergy operates the Indian Point Energy Center in Buchanan, N.Y. as well as the James A. Fitzpatrick Nuclear Power Plant near Oswego, N.Y.

As of April 26, 2013 the Fund owned 708,928 shares of Entergy valued at approximately $49 million.

Strong Charter=Strong Government Changes Foster Transparency & Accountability

KINGSTON, NY (May 1, 2013)....Ulster County Comptroller Elliott Auerbach released the 2013-1st Quarter Review highlighting the challenges facing the County's financial oversight and the impact of Charter changes on county government during the first ninety days of the year.

Included in the nine page report is a feature of the effectiveness of the $58 million in claimsauditing performed by the Comptroller's Office during the first three months of 2013 as well as thelimitations of reconciling the over $109 million bank balance as a result of departmental incom-pletions and delays.

The Comptroller's Office, a strong proponent of the separation of duties, commended the Charter Commission and the Legislature for recognizing the importance of dividing the accounting and auditing functions as an effort not only to intensify the internal controls, but to be consistent with professional standards. The Review also lauded the adoption of the Comptroller's recommendation of an Audit Committee, which has been established to objectively select and collaborate with an independent, external auditing firm and provide further transparency and accountability pertaining to financial matters.

A Message from Congressman Chris any more unfunded state mandates. Gibson

Dear Friend,

Last week, we have undertaken two important district initiatives I wanted to update you on. First, on Monday in Ghent, I joined with the National Young Farmers Coalition to announce the introduction of the bipartisan Beginning Farmer and Rancher Opportunity Act of 2013.

As you know, supporting our farmers is a focus of mine, particularly given my seat on the House Agriculture Committee. As we advance toward a fiveyear Farm Bill this year, I am working to make certain that priorities important to New York farmers - like assistance for our dairy farmers, specialty crops support, and conservation programs that are effective - are included. Our focus Monday at the Hawthorne Valley Farm was to encourage a new generation of farmers to take up the profession. The average age of a New York farmer is 57, and it is imperative we make it easier for others to enter agriculture, for instance through land access and microloan programs. This ensures we keep the essence of our rural communities strong and a stable and secure supply of American food.

It was great to be at Hawthorne Valley with local farmers who have taken advantage of some of these entry programs, and I'm hopeful through the Farm Bill process we can strengthen and improve them for the future. You can view news stories to learn more inforhttp://capitalregion.ynn.com/content/658835/beginner-farmers-and-rancher-opportunity-act-comes-to-farms/ http://www.registerstar.com/news/article 534eb542-abcc-11e2-89d2-0019bb2963f4.html.

Second, I unveiled my Watershed Advisory Group (WAG) that will work on issues related to the New York City Watershed. For the first time since the formation of the NYC Watershed, the entire Upstate (West of the Hudson River) portion is encompassed in one Congressional District. The WAG will bring together interested parties - residents, state and local officials, farmers, small business owners and others - to gather feedback and identify solutions.

As so many of you know, our area is deeply affected by the management of the NYC watershed. This is an issue I hear throughout my travels around the 19th District, especially after the devastating impact recent flooding has had combined with a feeling of stymied economic opportunity. I believe it is imperative that we find improved ways to work together to ensure both the conveyance of clean water to New York City and the ability of local communities to thrive and flourish. I am hopeful the WAG will be the start of a productive conversation.

If you are interested in participating or sharing your feedback on watershed issues, I encourage you to visit my website (http://gibson.house.gov/watershed) and submit an interest form via email or mail.

U.S. Rep. Chris Gibson, R,C,I- Kinderhook 19th Congressional District

Counties Renew Their "Mayday for Mandate Relief" Call for Assistance "Mayday!" is an international call for help.

Counties across the state are declaring a "Mayday" for Mandate Relief. We are doing this to call attention to the much-needed help county governments need to continue to provide local services in their communities.

During the month of May, county leaders and taxpayers will call on the State to introduce and pass legislation preventing the state from enacting future unfunded mandates.

"Our counties are cutting local services because we have to pay the state's bills first. We need more of our local taxes to stay in our communities for local services. These are important community-based programs like Meals On wheels for seniors, public health programs and road maintenance projects," said NYSAC President Edward A. Diana, Orange County Executive. "The present system is just unsustainable. The cost of fixed programs like health insurance and pensions and the projected increases in other state- mandated programs make it nearly impossible to provide essential and important local services. We must continue to reform government programs coming from Albany and maximize local government efficiencies."

"Governments at all level need to change their behavior. The resources are just not available to do things the way they have always been done. The new economy presents challenges but also new opportunities to redesign government programs. We cannot avoid addressing the structural programs which consume the vast majority of our tax dollars. The long-term consequence will devastate the ability of governments to help our citizens," said Stephen J. Acquario, NYSAC's executive director. New York State's local governments cannot afford

"For decades, county officials have been calling for mandate relief. What we got was a property tax cap and a promise of mandate relief. Unfortunately, a promise is not the same thing as action," said Warren County Supervisor Mark Westcott, one of the organizers of the "Mayday for Mandate Relief" campaign. "What we are saying with this 'Mayday' campaign is that we need more relief. The state needs to remove these programs or give us more flexibility to lower local costs.

Counties are also calling on State Lawmakers to enact a "No New Unfunded Mandates" law. (For a copy of the resolution being considered in many counties,

Cahill to Hold Office Hours at the Watershed, the entire Upstate (West of Hudson River) Phoenicia Library

(Kingston, NY) - Assemblymember Kevin A. Cahill (D-Ulster, Dutchess) would like to inform area residents that Tuesday, April 30 from 2:00 pm to 4:00pm there will be an Assembly district representative from his office holding constituent hours at the Phoenicia Library. This gives people who are unable to visit the District Office in Kingston an opportunity to drop in closer to home and ask questions, get general information, and find more resources in the area.

"This is the perfect opportunity for citizens to meet one-on-one with knowledgeable staff about a wide variety of issues and to receive personal assistance on individual matters or concerns," said Cahill. "I urge everyone to take advantage of this visit and stop by to meet our great staff."

The Phoenicia Library is located at 9 Ava Maria Drive Phoenicia, New York. Any questions can be directed to Adrianne Theetge in the Kingston District Office at 845-338-9610. You can also email Adrianne at adriannetheetge10@gmail.com.

Please note that there will be additional office hours scheduled in May. A separate notice will go out with those dates and locations.

Senate Passes Teresita's Law by Senator Bonacic

The New York State Senate passed "Teresita's Law," (S.1888) a bill sponsored by Senator John Bonacic that elevates the charge of causing the death of another, while negligently operating a motor vehicle with a suspended, revoked, or otherwise withdrawn license, from a misdemeanor to a Class E Felony.

This legislation was introduced in honor of Teresita 'Grace" Solano, who was killed in Middletown, New York last year, when she was hit while crossing a street by a negligent driver who was operating a vehicle with a suspended license. The driver's license had been previously suspended multiple times, however under the current law he could only be charged with a misdemeanor, which carries a maximum jail sentence of 30 days and a

Senator Bonacic says, "This is an outrage. When a driver with a suspended license kills another person, he or she must be held accountable for their actions. This legislation will remedy this gap in the law and make such criminal action a felony."

Bonacic stated, "I credit the unanimous passage of this legislation in the Senate to Teresifa's sister, Evangeline Papp. It was her tireless efforts that made the passage of this legislation in the Senate a reality."

"The bill now moves to the Assembly for a vote, which I am hopeful they will act quickly on. While this legislation cannot atone for the loss of a member of our community, it will assure that when someone drives without a valid license and kills an innocent person, they cannot walk away with only a slap on the wrist.

POLITICAL SLANT - Frank Comando -

It was a distinct pleasure meeting with an American who really puts his constiuents and our country first. Regarding gun control, Congressman Gibson stands on the 2nd Amendment. He is also committed to defense and farm issues, and recently formed the Watershed

Advisory Group (WAG).

With this in mind, last week Congressman Gibson and I toured the back yard of my home on Peekamoose Road, where the devastion from Hurricane Irene is very apparent. The Congressman also surveyed the damaged areas on Peekamoose Road, that have since been repaired. I explained that sections of the road, including a half mile strip that was washed out completely, were not passable after the storm, cutting residents off from passage, therefore repairs had to be made in a timely fashion, forcing our town to float a bond to pay for the repairs. I added that Bill Bruning, Town of Denning Supervisor mentioned that the town had not been reimbursed by FEMA as of yet, for the repairs, which will give some relief to our taxpayers. Gibson immediately had Steve Bulger, District Director of WAG, who accompanied the Congressman on his visit, make note of the problem and he will address this situation as soon as he returns to Washington. I did campaign against Chris Gibson during the election, but election is over. It is time to put party politics and ideologies aside and work together, to solve the problems of the small business and working class.

Gibson first won my attention when attempting to repeal a law that I appalled; a bill that took the Senate and the Congress out of the equation when declaring war, giving the President feudalistic dictatorship powers. To me this law is not acceptable in a reprerepresentative democracy.

MORE ON CHRIS GIBSON AND WAG.

For the first time since the formation of the NYC portion of the Watershed is encompassed in one Congressional District - the newly formed 19th District represented by Rep. Chris Gibson. As Congressman Gibson has traveled through the 165 towns in the 19th District - as well as his work in 2011-2012 while representing the 20th District - one common theme he has heard repeatedly is the issue of Watershed management. Who We Are Led by Congressman Gibson and his staff, the Watershed Advisory Group (WAG) will bring together interested parties - residents, state and local officials, farmers, small business owners and others. If you are interested in participating, see the submission form below. Congressman Gibson's District Director will be the Chairman of the WAG, with Ulster County resident Bob Illjes serving as co-chair.

Why we're here

The WAG is being established by Congressman Chris Gibson to facilitate communication between interested/affected individuals and organizations in order to help identify and remedy issues facing residents in the Watershed region. Representatives from each of the affected areas both in and around the Watershed will be invited to participate.

Our goal is to organize the affected communities to identify and present the true scope of the issues/problems. It will be a gathering place for informational input, both positive and negative, that affects residents both in and around the NYC Watershed. Within each area of the NYC water system (such as the Catskill Watershed or Delaware River Basin), both similar and different problems exist. The common link is that they are affected by the NYC water delivery system. In addition, within each area, individual towns and communities have specific (and sometimes conflicting) problems/goals.

Input from all communities and/or interested parties is not only welcome, but is imperative to truly establish the full scope of the of the entire New York City water system, as well the actions of the New York City Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) and the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation (DEC).

This Committee will organize these issues/problems in a manageable manner in order to identify the magnitude of the problem and the importance of a fair resolution. Our goal is to advocate for constituents and reach a fair resolution of these long-standing issues.

As Congressman Gibson stated, by "working together, we can ensure both the conveyance of clean water to NYC while balancing the ability of local communities to thrive and flourish.

Working For Our Communities With your interests in mind, the goal of the WAG will be to identify, on a non-partisan basis, the positive and negative effects, and consequences of living in the New York City Watershed. Facts will be gathered, and what WAG will advise the Congressman on with the common goal of fair treatment at the forefront of each evaluation.

The problems of every community, as well as the reality of supplying clean water to NYC, must be looked at to resolve all the identified issues with the best interest of all kept in mind.

Our goals are to organize the affected communities to present the true scope of the issues/problems, and to enable all communities to share information in order to present an accurate evaluation and reach a united resolution.

How you can help us?

Show you interest in our mission by supporting our efforts to support you. We ask that you take a few minutes to fill out this form. You can return the form via email to:

9thDistrictWatershed@mail.house.gov or by mail to: Congressman Chris Gibson

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

Dear Editor:

Last week the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation released documents for review of the proposed Crossroads resort and plans for expansion at the Belleayre Mountain Ski Center (http://www.dec.ny.gov/press/90370.html).
The plans for the Ski Center include alternatives that do not tie it into the proposed resort. These alternatives cost less and return greater benefits to the public than the Full Build Out Alternative, estimated to cost $74 million. The Catskill Heritage Alliance is petitioning the State of New York to save money for taxpayers by pursuing these better and less expensive alternatives.

Instead of investing scarce public funds to purchase the Highmount Ski Center from private developer Crossroads Ventures and build lifts and cut trails to allow private guests of Dean Gitter's resort to "ski in and ski out" of lodging units, the best investment to accommodate more skiers and to retain Belleayre Ski Center's beloved "family friendly" character is the expansion of lodges and other skier facilities and services. The Core Alternative accomplishes this by providing a renovated and expanded base area and satellite lodges up-mountain; green, LEED-certified construction with the use of solar energy, when possible; upgraded and enhanced food services and retail spaces; a modernized and wellstocked rental department; a new learning center; new and safer high speed lifts; and energy efficient snowmaking equipment. The Catskill Heritage Alliance also endorses the East Alternative, which offers new sustained expert terrain near Cathedral Glen on land already within the Catskill Forest Preserve. Both these alternatives save money for taxpayers while greatly improving the satisfaction of the wide range of skiers who enjoy the Ski Center.

In addition, the Catskill Heritage Alliance supports continued investments to ensure that, as the warming trend associated with climate change shortens winters and makes winter recreation less sustainable, the Ski Center remains a destination and a driver of the local economy. Specifically, we endorse plans for the Ski Center to construct more trails that can be used for allseason sports (cross country skiing, mountain biking, hiking, horseback riding) and that link to the trail network of the 1200-acre Big Indian Parcel adjacent to the Ski Center's existing footprint and the proposed regional rail trail in the Ulster & Delaware Corridor. We strongly support the continued use of the Ski Center's lodges and grounds for cultural events, festivals, educational courses and seminars, private events, and conferences.

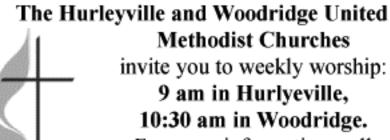

Please visit our website (www.catskillheritage.org) for more information about the upcoming review and please sign our petition to build a better Belleayre Mountain Ski Center without having taxpayers subsidize a private resort (http://tinyurl.com/d4bj6k6).

UC Executive Hein Declares 3rd Annual Healthy Ulster with Community Leaders at Ellenville Regional Hospital

County Executive Mike Hein was joined by Ulster County community leaders at the Ellenville Regional Hospital to officially declare May 4 - 12 as the 3rd Annual Healthy Ulster County Week. Healthy Ulster County Week is designed to promote healthy living and includes events and services to encourage Ulster County residents to eat better, exercise more, and increase awareness of their health. During Healthy Ulster County Week, special promotions are being offered by local businesses and community organizations to help keep Ulster County residents healthy.

"Healthy Ulster County Week is an important part of my administration's initiative to focus attention on healthy choices and help make Ulster County the healthiest county in New York State," said County Executive Hein. "I am committed to improving the overall health of our community and grateful to so many of the businesses and community organizations throughout Ulster County that have joined the 3rd Annual Healthy Ulster County Week to offer diverse and exciting health-oriented special events and discounts. The evidence is overwhelming that small healthy changes can add up to a major impact on one's overall health and quality of life."

"The Ulster County Health Department is fully committed to meeting the County Executive's goal of making Ulster County the healthiest county in New York State," said Dr. Carol Smith, Ulster County Commissioner of Health and Mental Health. "This Week helps to enhance awareness of the critical role of healthy eating, living and physical activity in preventing illness and chronic disease. It also helps showcase the abundance of preventative health resources in Ulster County and encourages residents and visitors to enjoy and take advantage of them."

Steven L. Kelley, FACHE, President and CEO of Ellenville Regional Hospital stated, "We are happy to participate in the Third Annual Healthy Ulster County Week and for our role in helping to make Ulster County the healthiest county in NY. As a hospital, good health is our mission! We applaud Executive Hein for challenging all of us to take the steps necessary to prevent illness, to exercise more, and to live healthier lives."

According to Debra Karnasiewicz, MD, MPH, Founder and Director of the Women's Health and Fitness Expo, "This year The Women's Health and Fitness Expo will focus on the importance of stress reduction for a healthy mind and body. Proper nutrition and physical activity go hand-in-hand with stress reduction to create a healthy lifestyle and prevent or control chronic disease. Our goal is to challenge residents to improve their health and the health of Ulster County by becoming more active and making better food choices. We are proud to kick off Healthy Ulster County Week at the Expo on May 4th. Together, we can reach our ultimate goal to make Ulster County the healthiest county in New York State."

"The March of Dimes is on board with County Executive Hein's Healthy Ulster County mission," said Lynne Versaci, Community Director of the March of Dime's New York State Chapter Northern Metro Division. "The March of Dimes is committed to supporting healthy babies, raising awareness and helping to bring an end to premature birth. Please join us during Healthy Ulster County Week on Saturday May 5th at 10AM the Walkway Over The Hudson for our Walk for Babies. And please contact me at lversaci@marchofdimes.com if you would like to participate on a committee or volunteer to help ensure the health and wellbeing of babies now and in the future."

As part of Healthy Ulster County Week, the Ulster County Library Association will be using funds from an increase Ulster County government granted the Library Association in 2013 to purchase a core collection of medical print and ebooks for small member libraries, and upgrade the medical collections of larger libraries. In addition to the basic core health collection for smaller libraries, larger libraries will be choosing and developing subject specialties for each library within the broad category of health categories. And the Library Association will distribute to member libraries a list of reputable online health resources for the public. According to Library Association President James Cosgrove, "Launching this initiative during Healthy Ulster County Week makes perfect sense. Offering outdated information in the medical realm is worse than offering no medical information at all."

Additional information about Healthy Ulster County Week activities can be found on the County's websites, at www.UlsterCountyNY.gov and www.HealthyUlsterCounty.net or by calling the County Executive 's office at 845-340-3800.
