On a personal note, I can remember spending time at the Nevele in the old days with Lou Resnick, Tom Lambert, others. I remember attending political functions there to raise funds for Congressman McHugh's campaign, or raise money for some worthwhile cause to help our community. There was always great food, superb entertainment, including golf. I am sure I am not the only one who misses these things and want to see it happen again.

The Catskills and Hudson Valleys have long been revered as one of the most beautiful and bountiful places on earth. Our area boasts of some of the purest water in the world, fantastic fishing, hunting, hiking, camping, mountain climbing, hang gliding and much, much, more.

The film industry has realized that almost all genre of films can be captured here. Our unique environment, world-class hotels, water parks, along with the pristine natural environs have established the Catskills and the Hudson Valley as a world class, destination point.

Accepting the fact that casinos can bring jobs and new income to our community, this is a chance to invigorate our business structure, reinforce our local tax base, and breathe new life back into our area. We have been economically depressed for too long. New businesses need to be allowed to flourish.

With the construction of the new projects at the Nevele, the local construction industry will get the boost that is definitely needed. We cannot survive in this depressed economic state. We need a change.

We can add a flavor of Monaco to the flavor we already have. Voting 'yes' on Proposition #1, bringing gaming to our area, will make this change happen.

The new Nevele is poised to become a world-class hotel with amenities to please guests of all ages.

With a half billion-dollar Nevele re-development investment in our area, the Nevele will be an anchor for future growth in our local community and region, creating jobs to spur our economy.

Actual Statistics: $500 million in economic impact annually! $200 million in direct construction investment over five years!

There will be 1,000 new construction jobs in our community. It is projected that there will be 1,500 permanent hotel and casino jobs and 2,000 indirect jobs through

This calculates to tens of millions of dollars in property tax relief and at the same time add tens of millions of dollars in new tax revenues to fund statewide education for our children

HOW CAN YOU HELP? VOTE YES ON NOVEMBER 5, 2013 ON THE VOTER REFERENDUM (Proposition #1) TO PERMIT FULL SCALE GAMING IN NEW YORK STATE.

Remember voting "yes" on proposition one approves gambling for all of New York State! It's up to you!

I recently read a nice article from "The Nome Nugget", a Nome, Alaska, newspaper given to me by Grahamsville's, Margaret Dolan. The article featured the Pastor Charles Brower and his wife, Janet, who have now settled in Nome. Charles has been appointed to be the Pastor at the Nome Community Methodist Church and is the only Alaska Native to be appointed to serve a United Methodist Church in Alaska. Charlie's wife, Janet, is Margaret Dolan's daughter. When I mentioned this article to my daughter, Karen, who lives in Penn Yan, NY and attends the Penn Yan Methodist Church, she told me that her Church has been sending school supplies, baby items, etc. to Pastor Brower's Church for years as part of their mission project. Gunther: October is Domestic Violence Awareness Month

Monticello, NY - This week, Assemblywoman Aileen Gunther joined Safe Homes of Orange County in commemorating October as Domestic Violence Awareness Month - a time for recognizing the individuals and organizations that work tirelessly to protect victims and stem the tide of domestic violence.

According to the Domestic Violence Resource Center, one in four women has been subjected to domestic violence during her lifetime, and nearly 75 percent of Americans know someone who has been a victim. In New York, nearly 450,000 domestic violence incidents are reported every year; however, it is estimated that just as many acts go unreported.

"Domestic violence tears away at the fabric of our society," said Assemblywoman Gunther. "It is not only the victims who are affected, but the countless children who bear witness to these horrific acts of violence."

Victims of domestic violence experience physical pain, emotional trauma and financial hardships. Women between the ages of 16 and 24 years old are among those most likely to experience violence at the hands of an intimate partner, but these crimes affect both men and women from all walks of life.

This year, the New York State Assembly passed a legislative package that would prohibit discrimination against victims of domestic violence (A.898, A.5387), require orders of protection to be interpreted into the native language of those involved (A.1084) and provide notice on orders of protection that the protected party cannot be arrested for violating the order (A.6547- Another law provides victims with new telephone numbers, free of charge, to help them rebuild their lives without additional financial burdens (A. 6381-A).

Domestic Violence Awareness Month was first observed in 1981 as a national day of unity. It was established by the National Coalition Against Domestic Violence to ensure that victims know help is available if they need it.

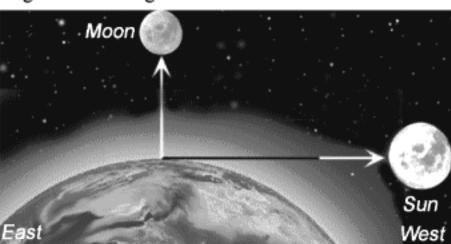

"In Orange and Sullivan Counties, there are wonderful organizations operating 24 hours a day to provide assistance and a safe escape from domestic violence. There is hope, and there is help," said Assemblywoman Gunther.

In Orange County, Safe Homes of Orange County operates a 24-hour hotline - 1-888-503-HOPE (4673). In Sullivan County, a 24-hour hotline is operated by Safe Passages - 845-292-5700, lights on the cemetery sign, new landscaping, Up until now, I really didn't think the shutdown chimney repairs, refinished entry doors, and reset of the government would have an effect on the Townsman, but today when I went to do a little research on the NASA website to see why the Hunter Moon, also known as the Sanguine Moon turns red, I was quite disappointed to see that the NASA website has been shut down due to the government shut down! Ouch! I did the Fun Page based on the Hunter's Moon, and I do have a passion to follow a theme!!

Using alternative resources, I was able to find some altar with horse hair cushions. You are also most interesting facts as to why the Hunter's Moon is often October's Full Moon is called the "Hunter's Moon" This experimental musical breakfast was or sometimes the "Blood Moon" or "Sanguine Moon". It is the first Full Moon after the Harvest Moon (the Full Moon nearest the Autumnal equinox) and it gets its name from hunters who tracked and killed their prey by autumn moonlight, stockpiling food for the winter ahead. "Hunter's Moon" is the traditional term for the full moon occurring in October recorded in a 1710 edition of The British Apollo, where the term is attributed to "the country people" who referred to a Hunter's Moon. The Hunter's Moon is unique because the time difference between moonrises on successive evenings is much shorter than average. The moon rises approximately 30 minutes later from one night to the next, as seen from about 40 degrees N or S latitude. Thus, there is no long period of darkness between sunset and moonrise for several days following the actual date of the full moon.

> The red orange color of the Hunter's moon is an effect caused by the atmosphere of the earth. The reason for the orange color is due to the scattering of light by the atmosphere. When the moon is near the horizon, the moonlight must pass through much more atmosphere than when the moon is directly overhead. By the time the moonlight reaches your eyes, the blue, green, and purple pieces of visible light have been scattered away by air molecules and you will only see the orange or

> In some months, especially during autumn, the atmosphere has more dust particles than usual. In other months, the atmosphere contains a lot more cloud particles. The extra particles in the atmosphere mean more scattering of light. It has been the belief that in the fall many farmers are harvesting their crops. Dust from the soil gets disturbed. With the dust floating into the atmosphere and the moon being lower in the sky during the fall season, often the full October moon, the Hunter's

> Moon is bright red or orange! For us in the world's Northern Hemisphere, the night of October 18th will present the night of the full Hunter's Moon. We will see it rise in the east as the sun goes down and ike any full moon, the Hunter's Moon will shine all night long. It will soar highest in the sky around midnight and will set in the west around sunrise. This year, in the continental United States, the lunar disk will be partially covered over by the Earth's faint penumbra shadow, as it rises. This will create a slight shading of the moon's southern portion. If we lived in Asia, we could observe a lunar eclipse early Saturday

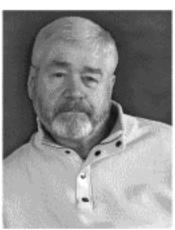

> To sum it up, there are two reasons for the blood red or orange Hunter's moon; the moon's path across the sky and the climate of earth.

If the sky is clear and not cloudy on October 18th, I guess we will be able to observe this phenomena of nature ourselves and enjoy the full beauty of the red orange Hunter's Moon!

A Man Without Breath Mysterious Book Report No. 119 by John Dwaine McKenna

A nation without religion-that is like a man without breath.--Joseph Goebbels, Minister of Propaganda in Nazi Germany, 1933-45. He had total control of the press, radio and all aspects of German culture during that time. It was his job to make the Nazi Army look as good as possible, while at the same time, making Germany's many enemies look as bad as possible. It was Goebbels who suppressed all the information about the Holocaust from the world. He, like most of the rest of the Nazi warlords, committed suicide in 1945, rather than surrender to the Allied forces and face a war crimes tribunal.

In this weeks MBR No. 119, A Man Without Breath, (A Miriam Wood Book/Putnam/Penguin, $26.95, 465 pages, ISBN 978-0-399-16079- by Phillip Kerr, we find serial protagonist Bernie Gunther, in Smolensk, USSR, investigating a mass murder of Polish Army Officers by the Soviets at a place called the Katyn Forest. Bernie Gunther, an ex-Berlin Homicide Detective, is attached to the German War Crimes Bureau, supposedly independent, but answerable to Goebbels. He's been sent there as a credible investigator, tasked with proving that four thousand Poles were systematically shot by the NKVD (later called the KGB, the infamous Soviet spy and torture agency) and buried in mass graves. It's March, 1943, just one month since the stunning defeat of the German Wehrmacht at Stalingrad and army moral is low. The defeat is as yet unknown in Germany, where Hilter and Goebbels are claiming that Germany is winning the war. Bernie Gunther and all the other front line officers know that, contrary to all the propaganda, the war is lost. They know too, that Red Army forces are massing around the defeated, retreating German forces at a place called Kursk, a few hundred kilometers North of their position at Smolensk . . . and that they're greatly outnumbered. There's not much time left before the expected bloodbath and Gunther is in a hurry to complete his work and return to Berlin and it's safer, for the time being, environment. Trouble is however, that an intelligent and resourceful serial killer is also operating in the area. The killer keeps murdering witnesses and destroying key pieces of evidence, and Bernie's departure keeps getting pushed back because he's the only experienced, competent homicide investigator in the area, and therefore given the job of solving the homicides. His job is made nearly impossible by the discovery of other mass graves containing the bodies of thousands of Polish Jews; men, women and children, murdered by the German SS and special execution squads. This novel is all the more chilling because it is based on historical fact. Bernie Gunther is "A Man Without Breath," his religious beliefs destroyed by the horrors of war, and his patriotism wiped away by the highjacking of his country in 1933, when the National Socialist, or Nazi party took over. A Man Without Breath is a complex, intelligent, historically accurate novel written with a precise and delicate touch on a sprawling canvas. Phillip Kerr is the best in the business of historical fiction . . . and a master of the most epochal couple of decades in all of world history. Don't miss reading his wonderful series of novels featuring Bernie Gunther, a man forced into a war he doesn't believe in by a government he despises.

There's plenty of tragic characters and historic fiction to treat your brain to at any local library. But you have to go. And 'you have to read or surrender yourself to ignorance!' A Chinese Mage named Confucius said that more than two thousand years ago. It was true then . . . and it is still true today. It's your decision whether to be ignorant -or not.

The Olive Jar - By Carol LaMonda

Will you survive the SCOUT SCARE?

Columbus Day weekend is the Last Hurrah. Leaf Peepers are getting their last glimpse of autumn's finery before the next wind and rain storm blows the crisp leaves to the ground. It is the weekend to bring in those houseplants that have flourished all summer before the frost gets them. It is the last three day weekend before we hunker down in that winter/holiday mode.

October wants everyone to get outside a few more times before we have to shut our doors and windows and become housebound. Mornings in the house seem colder than the weather outside. Occasionally there will be a puff of woodstove smoke as nights are just too chilly for a sweater and an extra blanket. Time to put summer duds away and did out coats, at least once the sun goes down. It is time to regretfully sat "solong" to summer. Winter is around that corner, and we have been spoiled with a fall that has everyone wishing for "just one more week."

Oktober Fest celebrations will be next with Halloween waiting in the wings. Pumpkins are everywhere. I love Halloween even though few make it up my long driveway to get treats. I am sure to buy my favorites because I am the one who usually eats most of them. Here in Olive and Shandaken, houses are really spread out and rural. Those who actually live in neighborhoods have trick-or-treaters transported in hordes by carpools of parents. I used to live on Deerfield Road in Boiceville, and we had hundreds of little goblins. We are pleased to be offering two of these courses in conjunction with the Ulster County Historical Society at the Bevier House on Rte 209 in Kingston.

Your Old House, Sustainability and You presents best practices for rehabilitating your old house or building using sustainable techniques while maintaining the architectural and historical integrity of the building. Principles and parameters from the NY State Preservation League, among others, are discussed. Your instructor is Z. I. Sanchez, architect, CSBA, NY code Enforcement Official. Ms. Sanchez is a specialist in historic renovation and sustainable community planning. Framing America: A History from Post and Beam to the Invention of Balloon Framing, begins with a review of wood framed American houses and concludes with an examination of sustainability in modern house framing. The instructor is Warren Ashworth, R. A., a member of the Society of Architectural Historians, the Vernacular Architecture Forum and a member of the Board of the Victorian Society of America. He has published many articles on the subject of historic preservation, and he teaches architectural history courses at Pratt University. Two other courses focus on the current use of sustainable building design. Making the Case for Sustainable Building Design provides an overview of cost effective sustainable building design and strategies for saving both energy and budget in your new build-ing. The instructor is Janus Welton, architect, CSBA, LEED AP BD+C, and the course date is Wednesday November 6, 6:00 - 8:00 pm. The location is the SUNY Ulster campus in Stone Ridge room 202 in the Hasbrouck building, the price is $76, and 2 LUs-HSW

The Resilient Home - Sustainable, Beautiful, Affordable will introduce realtors, builders, home owners, designers, engineers, architects and developers to practical, affordable strategies to build resilient homes that are designed to meet net zero energy and water, manage all waste on site, and are built with renewable, healthy materials. The cost of the course is $125. The course will meet on the SUNY Ulster Stone Ridge

Campus, Room 203 in the Hasbrouck Building on Saturday, November 9, from 9:00 am - 4:30 pm, and the instructor is Janus Welton, architect, CSBA, LEED AP BD+C. SUNY Ulster Offering Academic Travel Program "Drawing Tour of Rome and Florence" Winter 2014 Trip Open to the Community and Non-Students

Registrations still are being accepted for SUNY Ulster's academic travel program "Drawing Tour of Rome and Florence," a 12-day study abroad course in Italy.

The three-credit course is part of SUNY Ulster's Winternet offerings that enable students to earn credits during the breaks. The program also is open to non-students and for audit.

The trip from Dec. 30 to Jan. 12 will focus on drawing from the great sights and art treasures of Italy. The tour includes the Vatican Museum and St Peter's Basilica, The Colosseum, Forum, Trevi Fountain, Uffizi Gallery, The Duomo and many other stops.

SUNY Ulster Fine Art instructor Chris Seubert, Program Coordinator of Academic Travel, will teach the course.

SUNY Ulster's Academic Travel programs offers affordable international and domestic study options for students as well as the community. These programs are ideal for retirees, adult learners and others who want to travel and learn with others at lower costs than travelling individually.

The cost is about $3,625. Participants can raise money for the trip using Project Travel, a peer-funding organization that helps make educational travel for individuals and groups possible.

Project Travel and SUNY Ulster are working together to make domestic and international education travel programs more accessible to SUNY Ulster students. Project Travel provides a peer-funding platform and advising to students who want to mobilize their community to raise money and social support for these important experiences. SUNY Ulster provides access to the programs themselves, as well as program and financial aid advising.

SC Saves Residents More than $800,000 with ProAct Prescription Discount Card

Monticello, NY - In February 2011, Sullivan County launched the ProAct Prescription Discount Card for their residents. The program targets those individuals who are uninsured or underinsured by providing financial relief at local participating pharmacies. Residents of Sullivan County utilized the discount card to fill more than 11,000 prescriptions and collectively saved over $800,000 since the start of the program.

Will you survive the SCOUT SCARE? (From Pg. 6)

Long ago there was a tradition of a Halloween party and parade at the Legion Hall, but those kids are probably pushing fifty by now. It is nice to see some spirit resurrected here without exporting our kids to Woodstock. Pumpkins can be selected at the Reservoir Church's pumpkin patch, and we even have a local Haunted House experience. This year the Scouts of Troop 163 are running a SCOUT SCARE every weekend in October at the Shokan Square. The times are: Fridays 6-9, Saturdays 4-9, Sundays 1-5 and Halloween from 5-8. The cost is $15. a person and $9, for those under 12. RSVP and save $2, a person. The event promises spooky gifts, fortune teller and lots of ghoulish fun.

I actually like Halloween because it is a participatory holiday. I don't even care that the holiday that has been commercialized to the zenith of consumerism. It costs little for the payback in fall fun.

Dear Editor:

THE ISSUE: Local government ethics codes are outrageously outdated or non-existent.

THE STAKES: Strong rules and watchdog bodies are essential to keeping public officials on the straight and narrow.

Adams, Douglas the in "Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy" series, offered a twist on the social phenomenon known as the bystander effect, describing it as "something that we can't see, or don't see, because we think that it's somebody else's Elected local leaders across the Capital Region seem to be experiencing this effect en masse, as the Times Union's Alysia Santo illustrated in a story on Sunday that revealed a shockingly nonchalant attitude toward ethics codes and boards.

Her examination of ethics laws in 78 local agencies found sporadic financial disclosure requirements for elected officials and public employees, and inconsistent policies on the public's right to review those records.

Even in communities where ethics laws have been updated, enforcement is nil. Almost half don't have ethics boards, which aren't required by state law. And multiple efforts to overhaul the state law that seemingly allows this haphazard state have been stymied. But is that any wonder, given that change would require an act of the state Legislature, which can't get its own ethical house in order?

What's sad is that it wouldn't really be so hard for municipalities on their own to straighten up and fly right. The New York State Conference of Mayors and Municipal Officials, New York State Association of Counties, and Association of Towns of the State of New York offer such help as sample ethics codes and train-Attorney General Schneiderman, Comptroller Tom DiNapoli and the Committee on Open Government all offer guidance.

The most concrete effort in recent years was a team-up between Mr. Schneiderman and Mr. DiNapoli that started in 2011. The year before, Mr. DiNapoli proposed legislation to bolster ethics laws after an audit by his office showed a lack of compliance with the local governments' own rules. The legislation didn't make it to a vote in the leg-

Then Mr. Schneiderman launched a Public Integrity Bureau and joined forces with the comptroller. The joint effort has yielded a few dozen cases since 2011. No doubt those are the obviously bad apples. Most local leaders are in public service for the right reasons. But updated ethics codes, vigilant ethics boards and maximum public transparency would keep more on the right path.

So what is lacking to bring integrity to all levels of government? Only the political will to make it happen. One way citizens can light a fire under local officials is simply by showing up at a city council or town board meeting and asking why the ethics policy hasn't been updated in years. There is no good answer to that question.

It's also worth noting that this is one of those years with lots of local posts on the ballot but no big state or national races to bring voters to the polls. So turnout is typically low. Defying that trend and heading to the polls Nov. 5 would be another way for citizens to say that they are making their government their problem, not somebody else's.

Deputy Mayor Holloway and Commissioner Strickland Completion Announce Catskill/Delaware Ultraviolet Treatment Facility for Drinking Water- $1.5 Billion Facility is the Largest in the World and Will Provide Added Protection for Drinking Water in New York City and Portions of Westchester County

Deputy Mayor Cas Holloway and Department of Environmental Protection (DEP) Commissioner Carter Strickland today announced the completion of the world's largest Ultraviolet (UV) Treatment Facility. Ultraviolet light is a relatively new and revolutionary method for treating drinking water and the $1.5 billion Catskill/Delaware UV Facility will provide an added layer of protection against pathogens and other harmful microorganisms for the drinking water consumed by more than 9 million residents of New York City and portions of Westchester County. The 270,000 square-foot facility is designed to treat more than 2 billion gallons of water each day, more than three times the capacity of the next largest municipal UV treatment facility in the United States, which is currently under construction in Los Angeles. Since 2002, the Bloomberg Administration has invested well over $10 billion in water supply and distribution infrastructure to ensure the livability of the city for present and future generations.

Like the Delaware and Catskill aqueducts before them, the opening of the largest ultra-violet disinfection system in the world is the first milestone in the fundamental transformation of New York City's water supply led by Mayor Bloomberg over the past decade," said Deputy Mayor for Operations, Cas Holloway. "New York's water is the best in the world, and now every gallon that travels from the upstate watershed to the City will be treated with ultra-violet light, providing an extra level of protection to the 9 million people and businesses that rely on our water supply every day. This long-term investment will ensure that New Yorkers can rely on their fresh, clean, great-tasting water supply for generations to come.'

"More than 9 million New Yorkers rely on DEP to provide more than a billion gallons of high quality drinking water every day of the year, and the UV facility will play a key role in helping us fulfill that mission," said Commissioner Carter Strickland. "Mayor Bloomberg has made historic investments to ensure that our water supply remains pristine and the UV facility will provide an added layer of protection to ensure that, like the rest of the city, our drinking water is world class."

"Access to clean, safe water is essential to ensuring the health of all Yorkers," New State Health Commissioner Nirav R. Shah, MD, MPH, said. "This UV facility will play a major role in protecting the water supply that serves millions of residents of New York City and regions within Westchester County.'

"The Health Department works closely with DEP to certify that New York City tap water is safe and healthy through water sampling, disease surveillance, and inspections," said New York City Health Commissioner Dr. Thomas Farley. "This new facility will ensure New York City's water remains clean, pure, and safe to drink for years to come."

"This award-winning project demonstrates the pinnacle of ingenuity and creative engineering," said Jay Simson, President of the American Council of Engineering Companies of New York. "The state-of-the-art facility will improve the health and wellbeing of New York City through a costsaving, efficient method. The partner-ship of DEP and key engineering firms provided a successful platform to deliver this project and paves the way for improved water treatment on a global scale.'

The new UV facility will provide specifically Cryptosporidium and Giardia, naturally occurring microorganisms that can be found in surface waters and can cause gastrointestinal ailments in humans. As a result of increased awareness following a Cryptosporidium outbreak Milwaukee, new federal regulations for treating drinking water were creat-ed due to the fact that Cryptosporidium is resistant to disinfection with chlorine. Through a series of studies conducted in the late 1990s by the Water Research Foundation, with funding contributed by New York City, researchers discovered that exposing water to low levels of ultraviolet light was effective rendering at Cryptosporidium and Giardia harmless to humans. New York City recognized the value behind the scientific studies and took a proactive approach by committing to build the UV facility in 2002, prior to the establishment of a new U.S Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) rule that required such treatment surface water supplies. Construction of the Catskill/Delaware UV Facility commenced in 2006, it began treating water in late 2012, and construction is now substantially complete. As drinking water passes through the facility it is exposed to UV light that destroys the genetic code of the microorganisms, rendering them unable to reproduce or cause infection. The facility has 56 UV units, each of which contain 210 lamps, for a total of 11,760 UV bulbs.

Cryptosporidium and Giardia are naturally occurring but are found at only very low levels in New York City's water supply, thanks in part to the more $1.5 billion DEP has invested in its watershed protection programs since first receiving a Filtration Avoidance Determination from the EPA in 1993. DEP's watershed protection programs include the operation and support of advanced local wastewater treatment infrastructure, the promotion of sustainable farming practices, targeted land acquisition, and responsible land use regulations. New York City is one of only five large cities in the country permitted to run a largely unfiltered drinking water supply, due in large part to these comprehensive watershed protection

DEP supplies approximately 1 billion gallons of drinking water every day to more than 9 million people in New York City and upstate communities, including roughly 400,000 residents of Westchester County. To ensure the drinking water is safe and of the highest quality, DEP performs more than 1,000 daily tests on the water taken from nearly 1,000 sampling locations throughout the five boroughs. This is in addition to the 260,000 tests performed annually throughout the watershed.

The Catskill/Delaware UV Facility located in the towns of Mount Pleasant and Greenburgh, Westchester County. Construction included the installation of more than a mile of cement-lined 12 foot diameter pipe, 10,000 linear feet of steel pipe, the largest UV units ever manufactured at the time, 1,200 tons of structural steel, 20,000 square feet of aluminum grat-ing, and 121,000 cubic yards of concrete. Work also included improvements to the existing Delaware Aqueduct, approximately 500 feet below ground, which required months of nightly shutdowns of the aqueduct. The project created roughly 750 construction jobs and more than 40 permanent jobs.

DEP manages the city's water supply, providing more than one billion gallons of water each day to more than nine million residents, including eight million in New York City, and residents of Ulster, Orange, Putnam and Westchester counties. This water comes from the Catskill, Delaware, and Croton watersheds that extend more than 125 miles from the City, and the system comprises 19 reservoirs, three controlled lakes, and numerous tunnels and aqueducts. DEP employs nearly 6,000 employees, including almost 1,000 scientists, engineers, surveyors, watershed maintainers and others professionals in the upstate watershed In addition to its $68 million payroll and $153 million in annual taxes paid in upstate counties, DEP has invested more than $1.5 billion in watershed protection programs-including partnership organizations such as the Catskill Watershed Corporation and the Watershed Agricultural Council-that support sustainable farming practices, environmentally sensitive economic development, and local economic opportunity. In addition, DEP has a robust capital program with over $13 billion in investments planned over the next 10 years that will create up to 3,000 construction-related jobs per year. UC Executive Mike Hein Highlights $6 Million in Safety Net Relief to the Towns and City of Kingston- Municipalities Are Encouraged to Pass on Savings to Property Taxpayers

Kingston, NY - Today, Ulster County Executive Mike Hein highlighted approximately $6 million in Safety Net relief that the Towns and the City of Kingston will receive during 2013 and 2014. County Executive Hein's 2014 Executive Budget includes approximately $4 million to pay for the takeover of 2/3 of the local share of the Safety Net Program as part of his three-year phased takeover from the Towns and the City of Kingston. When fully implemented in 2015, Ulster County will have provided approximately $12 million in relief to the Towns and City of Kingston over the three year period. The attached table illustrates the estimated relief for Ulster County Towns and the City of Kingston for 2013 and 2014.

"My administration has never shied away from tackling the big issues to protect taxpayers, and it is my great hope that the millions in relief we have provided at the town level goes directly into the pockets of taxpayers in their time of need and not simply to support the status quo. By designing and implementing a historic Safety Net solution we have delivered $2 million of tax relief directly to the Towns and City of Kingston this year and are providing another $4 million in relief as part of the 2014 County Budget By the time Safety Net expenses are fully assumed into the County Budget in 2015, our Towns and the City of Kingston will see recurring savings of over $6 million dollars annually," said County Executive Mike Hein. The Safety Net Assistance Program is a State-mandated program that provides assistance to single adults, childless couples and other individuals and families who do not qualify for Family Assistance or other Federally-funded Temporary Assistance programs. New York State Law requires that Safety Net Assistance be funded through a State and a local share. Since 1946, New York State has required towns and cities to fund the local share of the Safety Net Assistance Program, unless the county legislature adopts a resolution directing that all or a part of the cost be charged to the county. Until -Medicare plans are not available last year, Ulster County was the only county in New York State that had not completely taken over the Safety Net Program.

Through innovation, change and a willingness to make difficult choices that cut costs, Ulster County has been able to absorb the expense of the Statemandated Safety Net Program from the Towns and City of Kingston, without -You can also get in-person help. To increasing property taxes. The tax levy proposed by County Executive Hein for 2014 is $78,730,408, the exact same as last year and includes absolutely no increase in the tax rate. This marks the third time the County Executive has delivered a budget with a property tax change of at or below zero percent to protect over-burdened families across Ulster County. In fact, the County Executive was able to accomplish the Safety Net takeover and hold the line on property taxes, while delivering the largest reduction in government spending in Ulster County history.

The Safety Net solution advanced by County Executive Hein creates an unprecedented opportunity for the Towns to reduce spending and provide real property tax relief to their residents. "No one understands more than I do the difficulty in constructing a municipal budget, but I believe all elected officials serve the exact same taxpayers and I encourage our town leaders to take advantage of the opportunity the County has provided and pass these savings along to their property taxpayers," said the County Executive.

UC Exec Mike Hein Announces UCAT Training

Kingston, NY - Ulster County Executive Mike Hein announces that the "Tactical Response to Critical Incidents on Public Transportation" training was conducted for Ulster County Area Transit (UCAT) employees this past weekend. This training was arranged in conjunction with the Ulster County Sheriff's Department, the Ulster County Emergency Response Team (UCERT), and UCAT.

"The safety and security of our riders is taken very seriously," said County Executive Hein. "This is training that we hope UCAT never has to use but it is important that UCAT drivers are reminded of what to do if such a critical situation were to occur. Thank you to all of those who participated in the training to help protect our County residents and keep them safe.

The training helped prepare UCAT drivers in the event a hostile incident occurs on the bus, including terrorism, hostage rescue, and suspicious packages. The training began in the classroom going over procedures and what to look for and then ended up outside for a demonstration. Drivers were subject to a real life scenario on what to do and what to expect should an incident occur. In addition, employees were instructed on customer service and passengers with disabilities.

"Ulster County Area Transit would like to thank the following people for making this training possible: County Executive Mike Hein, Sheriff Van Blarcum, Captain Freer, First Sergeant Rowe and the UCERT," said Robert Director Public DiBella, of Transportation. "This is a great example of departments working together toward a common goal."

Dear Fellow New Yorker,

Governor Cuomo yesterday urged all New York women to get checked for breast cancer and reminded women statewide that early detection and education about breast cancer saves lives.

New York State is taking steps to provide breast cancer early detection and prevention programs for all New York women, including those who don't yet have insurance. There is no doubt that early detection can save lives, and New Yorkers are encouraged to be proactive about check-ups and screenings, as well as educate themselves about breast cancer.

Uninsured women should call NYS-DOH Cancer Services Program at 1-866-442-CANCER (2262) or click here to find a free cancer screening in your community.

In July 2012, the Governor signed legislation that was designed to help improve breast cancer detection and prevention by requiring mammography services to inform patients if dense breast tissue is found during an exam.

We will continue to work to provide New Yorkers with the information and services they need to protect their health.

Sincerely, The Office of the Governor POLITICAL SLANT -By Frank Comando

ONCE AGAIN, THE PRODIGIOUS CERTIFICATE OF ACHIEVEMENT FOR EXCELLENCE IN FINANCIAL REPORTING IS AWARDED TO SULLIVAN COUNTY

The Certificate of Achievement is the highest form of recognition in the area of governmental accounting and financial reporting

 By Ira Cohen cohenira44@gmail.com

I am very proud to announce that a Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting has been awarded to the County of Sullivan Treasurer's Department by the Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada (GFOA) for my office's comprehensive annual financial report (CAFR) for the fiscal year ending December 31, 2011 (which was prepared in 2012).

This is not the first time that we have received this high honor from the GFOA, which is a nonprofit professional association serving approximately 17,500 governments and officials in the US and Canada. The Sullivan County Treasurer's Department has in fact been awarded this prestigious award for the past several years to the Sullivan County Treasurer's Department, which is primarily responsible for preparing the awardwinning financial report.

There is a significant amount of daily work that county departments are required to perform in terms of the professional financial management process. The Certificate of Achievement is the highest form of recognition in the area of governmental accounting and financial reporting and is a significant accomplishment to receive from the GFOA.

The CAFR was judged by an impartial panel to meet the high standards of the program including demonstrating "a constructive spirit of full disclosure" to clearly communicate its financial story and motivate potential users and user groups to read the CAFR.

I would like to commend and thank my staff, as well as Josh Potosek, Acting County Manager/Commissioner of Management of Budget and his staff for their hard work, dedication, professionalism and mutual cooperation in joining together to manage and document the financial affairs of the County. Their efforts have enabled Sullivan County to earn this prestigious award again. Ira

Thank you Ira Cohen ...

THE SHAME OF THE SHUTDOWN, MANY CHILDREN, MUST BE WITH-OUT FOOD, AS 800,000 FAMILYS, LOSE INCOME, IN A WEEK TO WEEK ECON-

Since the U.S. government shut down last week, it is estimated that there are as many as 800,000 federal workers furloughed without pay. It is inevitable that there will be some impact on the economy, but whether such impact will be prolonged and will affect the financial markets negatively is yet to be determined. So far, the Dow Jones industrial average has dropped by 2.16% from 15,129.67 on September 30, 2013 to October 9, 2013.

Intermediate HVAC Courses Offered

The Adult and Continuing Education Program at Sullivan BOCES is offering two Intermediate HVAC course for individuals interested in working with heating and ventilation and air conditioning systems. Classes are held at the ST. John Street Education Center in Monticello. The cost is $1600.

Day sessions start on October 28th and run Monday through Thursday from 1:00 pm - 4:30 pm. The class will run through January 16th, 2014. Evening sessions will start on November 7th and run on Tuesday and Thursday and some Saturdays from 6:00 pm - 9:30 pm. This class will run through February 1st, 2014.

Upon completion of the course, students should be able to identify the appropriate techniques used in the residential construction industry to determine proper sizing of HVAC equipment and ducts in order to meet the requirements for a high quality, comfortable climate in terms of heating, cooling, humidifying, dehumidifying, ventilation and air filtering. Participants will be able to identify all components, apparatuses, and functions of residential and light commercial HVAC systems, including knowledge of energy alternatives, blue-print readings, ladder diagrams, and troubleshooting a variety of heating system issues. (This class is NYSED ACCES approved for current Literacy Students.) Job Outlook:

Job prospects for heating, air-conditioning, and refrigeration mechanics and installers are expected to be excellent especially in the fastest growing areas of the country. In addition, employment of heating, air-conditioning, and refrigera-tion mechanics and installers is projected to increase faster than average for all occupations through the year 2014. As the population grows, so does the demand for residential, commercial, and industrial climate-control systems. The increased complexity of HVACR systems will also create opportunities for service technicians. People and businesses depend on their climate-control systems and must keep them in good working order, regardless of economic conditions.

To register or for more information, contact the Adult and Continuing Education Program at (845) 295-4900 between the hours of 8:30 am and 7:00 pm or visit us at schoces.org. For program updates Like Sullivan County BOCES on Facebook and follow us on Twitter.

October is National Domestic Violence Awareness Month-UC Sheriff Paul VanBlarcum Offers Two Potentially Life-Saving Programs for Domestic Violence Victims

Kingston, NY - According to the U.S. Department of Justice, about 1.3 million women are victimized by domestic violence every year. Here in Ulster County, 3,180 incidents of domestic violence were reported during 2012 and 2,114 incidents as of October 1, 2013.

This October, as we mark the 27th commemoration of National Domestic Violence Awareness Month, Ulster County Sheriff Paul VanBlarcum wants domestic violence victims to be aware of two potentially life-saving victim notification programs offered by the Sheriff's Office through the New York State Sheriffs' Association Institute, Inc.

The first is the Family Court Order of Protection Notification Project SAVIN-NY (Statewide Automated Victim Information and Notification), which allows domestic violence victims to register at www.savin-ny.org to be notified by phone, text message, or e-mail when a Family Court Order of Protection has been served. This service is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

The second is the New York Sheriffs' Victim Hotline - VINE® (Victim Information and Notification Everyday), which allows crime victims to register at www.vinelink.com or toll-free at 1-888-VINE-4-NY to be notified by phone or e-mail in the event of an offender's release from jail or prison. This service is also available 24 hours a day, seven days a week.

"Victims of domestic violence often need the kind of timely information that the VINE and SAVIN-NY provide. Both programs provide registered crime victims with critical information when they need it most. This access empowers domestic violence victims to gain a greater degree of control in their lives and to make informed decisions about their safety," said Sheriff VanBlarcum.

Domestic Violence Awareness Month was created in 1987 to promote increased rights and services for domestic violence victims; to educate the public about the crisis of domestic violence and the prevalence of this epidemic in all of our lives; and to encourage involvement and support from our community for domestic violence victims and those who serve them.

The New York State Sheriffs' Association Institute, Inc. was established in 1979. The mission of the New York State Sheriffs' Association Institute, Inc. is to assist New York's Sheriffs in the advancement of education in the criminal justice community, to prevent juvenile delinquency, to develop lawful and productive citizens, and to support victims of crime and their families.

The New York Sheriffs' Victim Hotline - VINE® is a program of the New York State Sheriffs' Association Institute, Inc., which provides crime victims and the general public free information in both English and Spanish 24 hours a day about offenders incarcerated in the New York City Department of Correction, the New York State Department of Corrections and Community Supervision (DCCS) and 60 county correctional facilities. The nation's first automated service for victim notification, VINE currently serves crime victims in more than 2,400 communities in 47 states, including most of the nation's largest metropolitan areas.

SAVIN-NY is a program of the New York State Sheriff's Association Institute, Inc., in partnership with: the NYS Association of Chiefs, NYS Police, NYS Division of Homeland Security and Emergency Services, NYS Unified Courts, NYS Office for the Prevention of Domestic Violence, NYS Office of Victim Services, Westchester County Department of Women, and NYS Coalition against Domestic Violence. This project was supported by Grant No. 2011-VN-CX-0012 awarded by the Bureau of Justice Assistance.

Growing "Micro-Greens" Workshop with Sullivan County Master Gardeners

Micro-greens are young, nutritious seedlings of edible vegetables and herbs that are harvested and eaten in less than 14 days. A workshop on growing

"micro-greens" at home will be offered by Cornell Cooperative Extension (CCE) Sullivan County on Tuesday, October 22, 2013 from 5:30 to 7:30 pm. Participants can join CCE Master Gardener, Jackie Saunders at the Gerald J. Skoda Extension Education Center on 64 Ferndale-Loomis Road in Liberty. Saunders will teach the class how to grow micro-greens at home or work as nutritional "powerhouses" that can be enjoyed all year in salads, soups, and sandwiches. Research studies show that micro-greens offer a punch well above their weight, when it comes to nourishment and flavor.

All supplies and seeds will be provided to start a love of growing microgreens. Space is limited so pre-registration with non-refundable payment of $30.00 is required. Registration and more information can be obtained by calling 845-292-6180 or emailing Susan Dollard at smd243@cornell.edu.

CAS Open Late for Trick-or-Treating and "CAS by Candlelight"

For one night only, the CAS Arts Center at 48 Main Street, Livingston Manor, NY will be open late with free candy for trick-or-treaters and "CAS by Candlelight," an eerie evening gallery walk, on October 31 from 6:00pm to 8:30pm.

"CAS by Candlelight" whisks visitors back before the modern age, allowing them to experience art as they never have before, in the stillness of the dark with only candles for light. Akin to the salons of the 19th century, it lends a eerie new perspective to the CAS galleries.

Visitors will view the current exhibit "In Parallel," featuring work by local artists Ellen Cibula and William Landau, which is on display at the CAS Arts Center from Saturday, October 12 through Sunday, November 17.

"In Parallel" brings two local artists together with striking bodies of work playing with line, dimension, space, and surprising shocks of color. Tapping into the common geometry that lies beneath everything, these paintings and drawings riff freely, unrestrained, to spin worlds of their own. Ellen Cibula describes her new paintings as "energy fields," created in relation to one another with structures she calls both "musical" and "mathematical." (Contd. Pg. 15)

SC Historical Society 2013 History Maker & History Preserver Awards

GRAHAMSVILLE DELI

The Sullivan County Historical Society is pleased to announce its History Maker and History Preserver Awards for 2013, which will be presented at our Annual Awards Dinner, Saturday, October 26 2013 at the Rockland House, Roscoe, NY. Social Hour 3 PM; Dinner 4PM.

History Maker: The late Gladys Olmstead, RN (Oct. 19, 1924--August 10, 1997), a pioneer in public health nursing began her career as Sullivan County's first public health nurse in 1951, in an 'office' with a dirt floor in the basement of the courthouse and retired 34 years later as the Director of the Sullivan County Public Health Nursing Service.

She saw great drama in public health nursing, "cutting down the rate of premature infant births, helping someone with polio move a muscle'. "How could you not be excited?"

Gladys brought the county's public health into the mainstream, initiating programs for pre-natal care, better nutrition for babies (WIC), well baby, orthopedic and TB clinics and whatever else was needed to 'keep the health' here in Sullivan County.
